Scientific Side-Lights

A Cyclopedia of Science, containing nearly 4,000 selections from the foremost scientific authors of our time, illustrating many thousands of topics in religion, morals, politics, history, education, social progress, and industrial and domestic life. Astronomy, botany, chemistry, geology, physics—land and sea, earth and sun, planets, comets, and stars, meteorites, earthquakes, and volcanoes, the infinitesimal world of the microscope, the innumerable bacteria (mighty for good or evil), light and heat, electricity and magnetism, the unseen atoms and the viewless ether, all bringing some message to man. 8vo, Cloth, 925 pp., $5.00; Law Sheep, $6.50; Half Morocco, $8.00; Full Morocco, $10.00.

OTHER FEATURES OF THE WORK.

The cyclopedia brings before the reader the chief discoveries, the highest thoughts, the widest outreachings, expressed in the very words of the masters of science, and puts the riches of this wide field in the reader's hands for instant public use. Each selection is given in the very words of some eminent author, and its exact source is indicated by the names of author and publisher, the title of the work, and reference to the volume, chapter, and page where found. The contents are arranged alphabetically according to topics. Besides this there is a general index of all subjects treated, an index of proper names, and a special topical and cross-reference index, aggregating 30,000 topics.

Infant Salvation

Or, The Passivity of the Infant Soul the Key to the Solution of This Problem. Dr. Firey in this work gives the history and deductions of the various phases of the doctrines concerning Infant Salvation, or Damnation, from the beginning of Christian institutes on down to the present times. In the second part of his book he expounds, in careful detail, the inception and condition of the soul of an infant, and develops the idea that the passivity of the infant soul is sure ground for the belief that salvation is assured for it. 12mo, Cloth, 407 pp. $1.30.

Foley, John P. (see Jeffersonian Cyclopedia)

Forbush, William Byron

Boys' Life of Christ **

With the same vividness and movement that is found in the favorite juvenile biographies of popular heroes the author portrays the heroic Jesus. He is seen playing the games of boys; camping out with the fishermen; sailing the lake in the storm; braving the enmity of the Mighty; dying like a soldier for a holy cause. The book is dramatic; made of short sentences, crisp descriptions, plenty of dialog. It approaches the divine Jesus through human greatness. 12mo, Cloth, beautifully illustrated, ornamental Cover, 320 pp. $1.25, net.

In the art of "writing down" to boys Dr. Forbush is a master. There is no sanctified Sunday-school book touch in the pages, no silly story-telling appealing to sentimentality, but a good, square, honest account of the life that was lived with such tremendous results for the good of the human race.—Newark Advertiser.

This book is a painting rather than a photograph. It does not try to tell everything Jesus said and did; it does not touch the theology or the philosophy of Jesus's life; it does endeavor to show the manly, heroic, chivalric, intensely real and vigorously active qualities of Jesus in a way to appeal to boys.—Baltimore American.

French, Prof. C. W.

Abraham Lincoln, the Emancipator

Vol. V of "American Reformers" Series. This book deals with the man rather than with the statesman and the President, and seats us in cozy chat at the fireside, while the subject of its pages seems to tell his own story. 12mo, Cloth, 398 pp. $1.50.

This biography of Abraham Lincoln subordinates all environing conditions to their proper functions of presenting the personality of the subject in its true light, but also furnishes one of the most interesting ideals of the true American manhood.—The Southern Star, Atlanta.

Mr. French's enthusiasm is impressively genuine, his judgments of men and events notably wise and even-tempered. Nor is any fault to be found with him concerning matters of fact; and author and reader will do well to remember that plain truth about Abraham Lincoln has the charm of romance and almost the uplift of revelation.—Times, Boston.

Tales from Gorky ‡

Gorky is undoubtedly the foremost Russian novelist of the present day. This volume contains a selection of his most characteristic short stories—those by which he won his sudden and tremendous popularity. They are translated into strong and idiomatic English with biographical notes of the author by R. Nisbet Bain. The following stories are included: I.—In the Steppe. II.—Twenty-Six of Us and One Other. III.—One Autumn Night. IV.—A Rolling Stone. V.—The Green Kitten. VI.—Comrades. VII.—Her Lover. VIII.—Chelkash. IX.—Chums. 12mo, Cloth, 285 pp., photogravure portrait. $1.20.

Hamilton, Edward John, D.D.

The Moral Law, or the Theory and Practise of Duty. An Ethical Text-Book

The doctrines set forth have been carefully formed according to the rules of inductive logic. The aim has been to employ fact—fact only—as the basis of theory. The tenets of every school and the reason alleged in their behalf are compared. 8vo, Cloth, 473 pp. $1.60.

That the book will commend itself to thinkers, be a source of power in the hands of the teachers of philosophy, and an inspiration to the Christian preacher is certain.—New York Times.

This book belongs to the same class with the works of Porter and McCosh; and, in my judgment, it compares favorably with them.—Prof. W. D. Wilson, Cornell University.

I find in it the ripe thought and expression with the thoroughness and vigor of treatment which can come only from the long study and elaboration of one who is at home in dealing with questions pertaining to the human intellect. —Prof. Lyman Atwater, London.

Dr. Hamilton belongs to the school of intuitional psychology. He has, however, wrought independently, and has thought through for himself the great problems with which he deals. His style, I may add, is admirably clear.—President Francis L. Patton, Princeton.

The author is evidently familiar with the latest productions of sensationalisms, associationalists, and cerebralists, and of all others who openly or virtually deny the separate existence or spirituality of the soul, and, without the savage justice of Dabney, but with equal conclusiveness, establishes his own positions and destroys theirs.—President Jeffers, Westminster College.

Hapgood, Hutchins

The Spirit of the Ghetto

Pictures of the people and life in the East Side Jewish Quarter of New York. The author describes how the Ghetto Jew differs from the Jew elsewhere. He gives short sketches of some of the Ghetto's notable scholars, authors, poets, playwrights, and artists. The "old" and the "new" Jewish woman are described. The reader is given glimpses of the theaters, cafés, newspaper offices, and studios of the quarter. With drawings from life by Jacob Epstein. 12mo, Cloth, 320 pp., ornamental covers. $1.35.

The book will be a revelation to the Christian, and even to the modern Jew, neither of whom understands how complete and characteristic a life pulsates in the Ghetto, how it tingles with every kind of activity, intellectual, political, and dramatic. It is the work of one able to interpret what he sees, to understand its ratios, and finally to divine the deep springs of idealism that transfuse the Ghetto with a poetry that the larger American life often loses.—Israel Zangwill.

There is a singular fascination in the numerous drawings from life. They are speaking pictures full of the color and the essence of their subjects. —The Sun, New York.

Mr. Hapgood has studied the Ghetto with sympathetic insight, and has portrayed it for us with loving care. It is a fascinating, endlessly varied world into which he leads us.—Commercial Advertiser, New York.

He has given us a delightful and remarkable book; candid, sympathetic, and beautifully written—one can not praise it too highly.—The Evening Post, Chicago.

It is hardly possible to speak too highly of it.—The Northwestern Congregationalist, Minneapolis, Minn.

Harnack's "Outlines of Dogma" is a work remarkably compendious without loss of clearness.—Wm. F. Warren, President Boston University.

As an aid to classes and the private student, this volume will be very helpful.—The Gospel Banner, Augusta, Me.

We commend these outlines to scholarly interest and use.—The Watchman, Boston.

A volume of reminiscences, including chapters on early life and recollections, hearing music, old violins, Paganini, Wagner, Wagner's Operas, and Liszt. 12mo, Cloth, 283 pp., $1.00; Paper, 25 cents.

Those who know the charm and clearness of Mr. Haweis's style in descriptive musical essays will need no commendation of these "Memories," which are not only vivid but critical.—The Public Ledger, Philadelphia.

Of all Mr. Haweis's contributions to musical literature, none is richer or more readable. It is a treasury of musical intelligence such as only a critical taste and an almost infallible instinct could have gathered.—Musical Herald, Boston.

Hawthorne, Julian

Archibald Malmaison

An exciting story. 12mo, Cloth, 265 pp., cover design. Illustrated by Freeland A. Carter. $1.25.

Full of thrilling situations, and unusual blending of the weird and the actual.—Evening Traveler, Boston.

After perusal of this weird, fantastic tale, it must be admitted that upon the shoulders of Julian Hawthorne has descended in no small degree the mantle of his illustrious father. The climax is so terrible, and so dramatic in its intensity, that it is impossible to class it with any situation of modern fiction.—The London Times.

It is a powerful story, original in plot and strong in literary skill.—Sunday School Times, Philadelphia.

The whole story is told in a quaint, old-fashioned way, with many sly bits of humor thrown in here and there, while the last chapters are of a weirdly tragic character, giving opportunity for considerable dramatic effect, which the author has well improved.—Argonaut, San Francisco.

Hexaglot Bible, The

Comprising the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments in the original tongues. The work presents the Scriptures of the Old Testament in six languages, the Hebrew, Greek, Latin, English, German, and French, and the New Testament in Greek, Syriac, Latin, English, German, and French. The texts are conveniently arranged in six parallel columns, three columns on each of two opposite pages. Edited by the Rev. Edward Riches De Levante, M.A., Ph.D. Assisted by competent Biblical scholars. Six volumes, quarto, Cloth. $40.00.

The texts are those of the highest authorities. The Hebrew is that of Van der Hooght, carefully revised. The Greek in the Old Testament is Dr. Tischendorf's latest edition, with gaps supplied in brackets, from various sources, and in the New Testament, Dr. Tischendorf's eighth edition similarly supplemented. The Latin of the Old Testament is the Clementine edition of the Vulgate, and in the New Testament, Dr. Tischendorf's edition of the Codex Amiatinus, with gaps supplied in brackets, from the Clementine edition. The Syriac (in the New Testament only) is based on the noted "Biblia Sacra Polyglotta." The English is the Authorized Version; the German, Martin Luther's translation, and the French is the translation by David Martin with revisions.

It is not only a sumptuous book for a library, but is also a book of comparative versions which will be of incalculable convenience and value. . . . Each version has been committed to a scholar specially qualified for editing it, and the whole has been produced in a style of printing which places the work at the head of the Biblical texts of this country.—British Quarterly Review.

It seems to me to be a very valuable work, and is edited competently and correctly. The arrangement of the New Testament is excellent, and gives us every version of primary importance as well as the original Greek.—The Very Rev. the Dean of Canterbury.

I have satisfied myself that "The Hexaglot Bible" is useful to students.—His Grace the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury.

We have tested its accuracy in several passages, and certainly with gratification and success. It is clear that no pains and no expense have been spared on the production of this work, which does infinite credit to the enterprise and good taste of the publishers. It is a marvel of accurate and beautiful typography.—The Evening Standard.

Love and the Soul Hunters ‡

A novel which is considered to be one of the most successful literary achievements of this gifted author. The world in which it moves is the world of high aristocracy and high finance. It gives vignettes of the people who live in these high circles, their characters, their manners, and their mode of life. The book touches the notes of luxury, materialism, rank, and immense wealth, and is a brilliant picture of that modern society in which the royalty and pride of birth of the Old World clash with the wealth, enterprise, and liberal ideas of the New. 12mo, Cloth, 343 pp., ornamental cover. $1.50.

As Others Saw Him ‡

A retrospect, A.D. 54. This volume is in a measure a Jewish life of Jesus, written as if by one of the members of the Sanhedrin who condemned Jesus to death. Two sermons of Jesus are included, made up of sayings of his that do not occur in the Gospels, but which have been extracted from the church fathers. The volume includes also a Jewish catechism from which it is claimed Jesus acquired the fundamental principles of his teachings. 12mo, Cloth, 230 pp. $1.25.

It is a most beautiful work, and, I trust, will be widely circulated; for it can not fail to do good wherever it goes, whether among Israelites or Christians. It has given me a new point of view from which to look at the series of events to which it is devoted, and at the same time has increased my hope that a not distant future will see such increase of kindly feeling between men of various religions as has hardly hitherto been dreamed of.—Hon. Andrew D. White.

Naturally the work as thus presented has peculiar interest at this moment when so many new international questions confront the United States.—Philadelphia Times.

The text has been done with care and discrimination. The respectable but handy volume, in so far as it is representative of the opinions of the statesman, is an admirable substitute for his entire works. And for purposes of quick reference it is of course superior. Lathbury, Clarence

The Being with the Upturned Face

The author's purpose is to present man in his true nature as a being transitional between the animal and the spiritual. Insistence is made that man is fundamentally, because physically, an animal; but that he has a face upturned to the Infinite. 12mo, Cloth, 197 pp., uncut edges, gilt top. $1.00.

It is a book for those who think and feel. It is written with rare insight and a fine freshness of phrase. It is a book of common sense, inspiration, and vision.—Edwin Markham.

Leland, Charles Godfrey, Hon. F.R.S.L., M.A.

The Alternate Sex ‡

Or, The Female Intellect in Man, and the Masculine in Woman. The theory of the work is that the fundamental intelligence of the two sexes is radically different or corresponding to their physical creation and development, and the author argues that, while man could not write anything "truly original" or beautifully varied without something feminine in his nature, woman could not "create mentally and vigorously" without something masculine in hers. 12mo, Cloth, $1.00.

It is excellent reading, full of the fruits of keen observation.—Evening Sun, New York.

Leland, Charles Godfrey, Hon. F.R.S.L., M.A., and Prince, John Dyneley, Ph.D.

Kuloskap, the Master, with Other Algonkin Legends and Poems

Indian legends and stories of fairies, witches, animals, love, the hunt, and nature, told in epic and lyric form, and full of imagination, quaint philosophy, and nature description. Profusely illustrated with half-tones by F. Berkeley Smith, ten birch-bark tracings by Prof. Leland after Indian designs, and a frontispiece in color by Edwin Willard Deming. 12mo, Cloth, 370 pp., ornamental covers. $2.00.

Nothing more fascinating has come out of bookland this season than "Kuloskap." It is the most novel book of the season, and one of the most entertaining. Its appeal is universal. Children will like it; so will grown men and women. It is destined to become one of the classics of the land.—The Cleveland Leader.

The legends collectively may be regarded as an epic, a grand Indian poem, embodying the religious system of the Algonkins, their ideas of the Deity, of the creation of the world and its inhabitants, both men and beasts, of the cosmic struggle between light and darkness, between good and evil, between the gods and the devils, between Kuloskap, the Master, and Masulum, the spirit of evil.—The Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

Too much praise can not be accorded to Mr. Leland for his services in rescuing from too nearly complete oblivion the legends of the American Indians. The field is most rich and of an engrossing interest.—The Brooklyn Times.

A fascinating book.—The Chicago Daily News.

Lovers of folk-lore and students of our own Indian legends in particular will find a treasure in this book. Apart from its interest as a contribution to our knowledge of Indian folk-lore, this book deserves notice for the genuine poetic value of the stories it contains.—Mail and Express, New York.

This is an exceedingly interesting book. It is the American Indian's "King Arthur's Round Table," "Robin Hood," and "The Arabian Nights." I am glad that Mr. Leland has found some one to put his legends in lasting form.—Dan Beard.

My feeling to the authors for this work is the same as it would be toward some heroic fireman who had rushed to the burning Louvre and, at the last moment, rescued the Mona Lisa, the Gobelin Boarhunt, or the Man with the Glove; but for him the world would have lost something priceless, unique, and irreplaceable.—Ernest Thompson Seton, the eminent artist and author of animal stories.

It is just the book to place in the hands of young Christians, and for use in Christian Endeavor meetings and the monthly concert.—The Independent, New York.

The pages glow with the descriptions of the advancing kingdom and the glory of the Lord.—Zion's Herald, Boston.

The Four Winds of Eirinn ‡

A dainty volume of verse that has received most enthusiastic commendation from critics. As a minstrel of the Irish race Miss Carbery ranks almost in the same class with Mr. Yeats and "A. E." An extremely interesting study of what may be emphatically called . . . "a peculiar people."—The Outlook, New York.

Tolstoy and His Problems ‡

Each essay in this volume expresses, in one form or other, Tolstoy's view of life; and the main object of the book is not to praise his views, but to explain them. Being the only Englishman who, in recent years, has had the advantage of intimate personal intercourse, continued over a period of some years, with Tolstoy, Mr. Maude is well qualified for his present work. 12mo, Cloth, 226 pp. $1.00.

I very much approve of it. It is admirably constructed, and what is most important is given.—Leo Tolstoy (of the first essay, a short biography of himself).

Missions, The New Encyclopedia of **

Twelve years ago we published the Encyclopedia of Missions, and it was immediately accepted as the most useful authority on this subject in existence. So rapid and remarkable have been the changes in the vast enterprise of missions that this work is now lacking in a vast quantity of valuable material and is out of date. The New Encyclopedia provides in compact and accessible form all the essential facts on the history of missions, past and present; the climate, features, etc., of every mission field on the globe; full information on the races and tribes reached by present-day missionary enterprise—their customs, languages, religious beliefs, and observances—the modern improvements in missionary methods, and the ever-widening indirect relations and results of missions. It was prepared under the direction of the Bureau of Missions: H. O. Dwight, LL.D., Editor-in-Chief; H. Allen Tupper, Jr., D.D., and E. M. Bliss, D.D., Associate Editors. Special articles on different phases of the mission movement have been prepared by many distinguished and widely known experts on the subject. One substantial volume. Cloth, 865 pp., $6.00, net; Half Leather, $10.00, net; post-paid, 50c. extra.

It is absolutely indispensable to every student of missions, and this should include every pastor.—Luther D. Wishard (late Agent of the American Board).

There is no other encyclopedic work on missions that can begin to compare with it.—Harlan P. Beach, Secretary Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions.

King Leopold's Rule in Africa ‡

Within the covers of this book is one of the most terrible indictments of so-called civilization ever presented to the world. The workings of the new slave-trade system are laid bare. As the New York Evening Post says, "The mass of evidence the author has accumulated is simply appalling in its implications. Only a part of it, when brought out in a debate in the House of Commons, was enough to cause the adoption of a resolution that the fearful abuses in the Congo Free State ought to be inquired into by civilized nations. To promote and make effective such an inquiry is the great aim of this book. It is a perfect arsenal of weapons against the exploiters and enslavers and torturers and murderers of the natives along the Congo." W. Chambers, D.D.*

Oehler represents the best results of the study of "Progress of Doctrine in the Old Testament," and prepares the way for the construction of Biblical theology proper, in the unity of a system founded on theological principles, viz.: the relations of divine self-manifestations and communications, and operations throughout the period of the history of revelation to the ends of revelation.—*Joseph T. The People's Bible ‡

A distinctly pastoral exposition, analyzing and applying the spiritual significance of the Scriptures, and aiming to fortify its readers with the Bible's choicest wisdom. Each volume complete in itself. In 28 volumes. 8vo, Cloth. $1.50 per vol.

FEATURES OF THE WORK AND ARRANGEMENT OF THE VOLUMES.

In the ordinary sense of the term the "People's Bible" is not a Biblical Commentary. The scope is broader. It is a work not only for the minister and student, but for the people. It is not intended to take the place of verbal or critical commentaries. It is not a series of sermons. There are no sermons, as such, in the entire work. The volumes are arranged as follows: 1. Genesis; 2. Exodus; 3. Leviticus–Numbers, xxv.; 4. Numbers, xxvi.–Deuteronomy; 5. Joshua–Judges, v.; 6. Judges, vi.–I Samuel, xvii.; 7. I. Samuel, xviii.–I. Kings, xiii.; 8. I. Kings, xv.–I. Chronicles, ix.; 9. I. Chronicles, x.–II. Chronicles, xx.; 10. II. Chronicles, xxi.–Esther; 11. Job; 12. The Psalms; 13. Proverbs; 14. Ecclesiastes–Isaiah, xxvi.; 15. Isaiah, xxvii.–Jeremiah, xix.; 16. Jeremiah, xx.–Daniel; 17. Hosea–Malachi; 18, 19, 20. Matthew; 21. Mark–Luke; 22. John; 23, 24, 25. The Acts; 26. Romans–Corinthians–Galatians; 27. Ephesians–Revelation; 28. Index Volume to the entire work.

This work will prove a treasury for sermon-makers.—The Churchman, New York.

New glimpses of truth will delight the reader in every section of the work.—The Congregationalist.

Almost every sentence in this great work glows with intense spiritual light, and burns its way to the very center of life.—The Reformed Church Messenger, Philadelphia.

The work is not laid out on the plan of other Bible interpreters. . . . His teaching is at times thrilling by his graphic delineations.—The Outlook, New York.

His track is his own, and the jewels which he lets fall in his progress are from his own caskets; this will give a permanent value to his works, when the production of copyists will be forgotten.—Rev. C. H. Spurgeon.

The homiletic value of this monumental work grows on the reader with each volume.—The Presbyterian Journal, Philadelphia.

It might almost be called a pictorial Bible; each chapter is characterized by vivid verbal pictures, profuseness of illustration, literally orientalizing the orientalisms of the Scriptures.—New York Observer.

The Pulpit Bible ‡

The entire text of the Bible is printed in large clear type with bright and suggestive illustrations in an ample margin opposite each significant verse. The author's notes alone run to over 750,000 words. The notes are all original and they indicate the special pulpit use of each verse (where available) in the Bible. Each note is thus a suggestion for a sermon. Where space has not permitted a sufficient treatment of any passage, a copious and most carefully detailed Index indicates in which of Dr. Parker's other books the particular interpretation is provided. Quarto, Full Morocco, 1,351 pp., one volume. $15.00.

Dr. Joseph Parker is distinguished immeasurably by a distinct and unapproached style of interpretation which opens up to homiletic use vast sections of revelation which have hitherto lain unused.—The Christian Endeavor World, Boston.

Every passage starts a train of copious and picturesque suggestions.—The Advance, Chicago.

Dr. Parker is always fresh and suggestive. To the clergyman these volumes are of almost incalculable value.—Zion's Herald, Boston.

A page of Parker is worth a whole volume of some sermons that we have seen in print, and the preacher who studies him and makes an honest adaptation of his pungent expositions can not fail to make himself a more interesting and profitable teacher of the Word.—The New York Observer.

Since Matthew Henry no one has arisen with the same qualifications for the work.—The Christian Leader, London.

Partridge, William Ordway

Photogravure frontispiece and 12 full-page half-tone illustrations, including drawings by W. R. Leigh. $1.00.

Preacher's Complete Homiletic Commentary on the New Testament

Uniform size and style with the Homiletic Commentary on the Old Testament. Cloth, 10 vols. (and index volume), 6,000 pp., $30.00; per vol., $3.00.

FEATURES OF THE CONTENTS.

IT BRINGS TO THE PREACHER'S ATTENTION hundreds of texts heretofore almost wholly passed over by the pulpit. Spurgeon, in his Commenting and Commentaries, says: "We have next to nothing on Kings." In the Homiletic Commentary we have on Kings alone 743 treatments of texts. The same is true of other books, as Jeremiah. New expositions, critical notes, illustrations, etc., are poured in upon neglected texts, and additional light thrown upon old texts.

IT IS THE ONLY COMMENTARY that supplies a sermonic treatment of homiletic suggestion on every verse of both the Old and New Testaments that can be used to advantage as a sermon text.

IT CONCENTRATES THE LIGHT of all ages and of all countries on the text.

IT IS WHOLLY FREE FROM DENOMINATIONAL BIAS, being strictly evangelical.

IT SUGGESTS THOUSANDS OF THEMES AND ILLUSTRATIONS for sermons, also many hundreds of useful illustrations.

IT THROWS NEW LIGHT upon the present controversies over the Old Testament.

THE COMMENTARY IS WHOLLY IN ENGLISH, avoiding Hebrew and Greek, except here and there in the critical notes.

THE INDEXES are useful and practical.

Prescott, William Hickling, LL.D., The Works of ‡

The "History of Ferdinand and Isabella" is a work that unites the fascination of romantic fiction with the grave interest of authentic events. —H. T. Tuckerman; Sketch of American Literature.

The genius of Mr. Prescott as a historian has never been exhibited to better advantage than in this very remarkable volume ("Philip the Second"), which is grounded on varied and ample authority. It marches like a cavalry squadron; it is swift, animated, glittering; it is radiant, pictorial, and flushed, as tho the writer were exulting in his amplitude of materials and perfect mastery of details.—Lord Macaulay.

So long as in ages far distant, and not only in countries now refined and polished, but in those not yet brought into the domain of civilization, the remarkable epoch which he has described shall attract the attention of men; so long as the consolidation of the Spanish monarchy, and the expulsion of the Moors, the mighty theme of the discovery of America, the sorrowful glories of Columbus, the mail-clad forms of Cortez and Pizarro and the other grim conquistadores, trampling new-found empires under the hoofs of their cavalry, shall be subjects of literary interest; so long as the blood shall curdle at the cruelties of Alva, and the fierce struggle of the Moslem in the East—so long will the writings of William H. Prescott be read.—Edward Everett.

Prevention of Disease, The ‡

Rightly used, "The Pulpit Commentary" can not fail to be a rich resource for both intellectual and spiritual stimulation and culture to any student.—Prof. W. C. Wilkinson, D.D., University of Chicago.

The exposition is scholarly, without the slightest trace of pedantry, and is characterized not only by great historical knowledge, but by considerable freshness of treatment and spiritual insight.—The Literary World, London, Eng.

The volumes of this commentary complete an immense work; they are the ripe fruit of leading scholars and homilists. This commentary will be one of the greatest achievements of sanctified learning in the closing years of the nineteenth century. They admirably combine exegetical skill and homiletical application. One is filled with admiration at the wealth of sermonic material furnished in these remarkable volumes.—R. S. MacArthur, D.D., New York.

"The Pulpit Commentary" has the merit of giving, in advance of its homiletical suggestions, a thorough exegetical and expository treatment of the text, furnishing to the honest sermon-maker all the material for an independent outline, which he may afterward improve by comparison with the methods of other men as given in the homiletical section.—T. D. Witherspoon, D.D., Louisville Presbyterian Theol. Seminary.

Of all distinctly homiletical commentaries on the Holy Scriptures that I have examined, this is the most complete and thoroughly elaborated.—William F. Warren, D.D., President of the Boston University.

Exceedingly valuable helps to a clergyman.—James O. Murray, D.D., Dean of Princeton University.

I have no hesitancy in saying that the "Pulpit Commentary" is probably the best investment for the cost which ordinary clergymen can make in the line of commentaries.—G. Frederick Wright, D.D., LL.D., Professor, Oberlin, Ohio.

Among the multiplying exegetical and critical works having the same general character, this one has the specific merit and value of rendering assistance and fruitful suggestion to the preacher and teacher.—Bishop F. D. Huntington, of the Diocese of Central New York [Episcopal].

It is worthy of the largest circulation, and will do good wherever it is read. It is eminently fitted for the use of pastors of churches.—Howard Osgood, D.D., Rochester Theological Seminary.

It would not be easy to find within the same compass a discussion at once so full of knowledge and learning, so lucid and terse.—The Spectator, England.

It is the most learned, able, and instructive commentary on that portion of the Scriptures.—Prof. Henry Green, Princeton Seminary.

It is the best exposition known to me of that section of the Sacred Scriptures. Pusey's Hebrew scholarship was undoubted; his learning was extensive; his acquaintance, particularly with patristic literature, was very large, and his heart was especially devout.—William M. Taylor, D.D.

Putnam, Israel

The author treats the subject with great fulness. . . . This treatise of Dr. Robson will prove of great value.—Christian Work, New York.

This is a careful and discriminating study of the work of the Holy Spirit in man, and it discusses some of the most difficult questions and problems involved in the subject. . . . The author finds a solution of these and other problems in the work of the Holy Spirit in Christ and presents this view with clearness and force.—Lutheran Observer, Philadelphia.

The author of this book makes proper distinction between regeneration and conversion, and he properly emphasizes the need of studying the work of the Holy Spirit in conjunction with the study of the work of Christ, since without the cooperation of the Spirit the work of the Son would have failed of effectiveness.—Journal and Messenger, Cincinnati.

Rose, Achilles, M.D. (see also Physician vs. Bacteriologist)

Atonia Gastrica *

Atonia gastrica, by which term is understood abdominal relaxation and ptosis of the viscera, is a subject of vast importance, as has been proved by the avalanche of literature it has caused during the last decade. The relation of some ailments to abdominal relaxation has only been recognized since the author's method of abdominal strapping has been adopted and extensively practised. This book gives in attractive form all we know in regard to the etiology of the subject; it describes and treats of the significance of the plaster strapping as the most rational therapeutic measure. The illustrations given with the description will prove of much practical value to those who wish to give the method a trial, but who have not had the opportunity to see the Rose belt applied. 12mo, Cloth. $1.00, net.

Carbonic Acid in Medicine **

This book to many readers will be a revelation. It sets forth facts about the healing qualities of carbonic acid gas, which were known centuries ago, and then strangely passed into disuse until they had became unjustly forgotten. 12mo, Cloth, 268 pp. $1.00, net.

From this little volume the practitioner can derive much valuable information, while the physiologist will find a point of departure for new investigations.—The Post Graduate, New York.

An uncommonly interesting chapter of medical history is given in the volume entitled "Carbonic Acid in Medicine."—Daily Republican, Springfield, Mass.

Rosenbach, Prof. O., M.D.

Physician vs. Bacteriologist *

Rosenbach has published a large number of clinical, experimental, and critical papers on diagnostic, therapeutic, hygienic, and general pathological questions. One of his works, forming part of Nothnagel's great encyclopedia, has already appeared in English translation. Among the prominent men of the medical profession of to-day Rosenbach is certainly, more than any other, an original thinker, observer, and investigator, who makes no concessions to the extravagant fashions in medicine at the present time. His aim is to place medicine on a rational basis, whence bacteriological aberrations have been endeavoring to banish it. This book treats on morbid proliferation of specialism in medicine and a one-sided organotherapy; it opposes unjustified and unwarranted claims of the bacteriologist, aiming at tuberculin and the legion of serums. Translated from the German by Dr. Achilles Rose. 12mo, Cloth, 455 pp. $1.50, net.

The thorough and comprehensive manner in which the author has examined and discussed the subject can not fail to be of very great interest, if not enlightenment, to the medical profession.—The Medical Summary, Philadelphia.

It is a book which furnishes much food for thought and should be read by every physician and surgeon.—St. Louis Medical and Surgical Reporter.

It is a rich storehouse for every physician and will give much food for thought.—The Post-Graduate, New York.

Every physician, and particularly every eclectic practitioner, should have a copy.—Eclectic Review, New York.

It is entertaining reading, and the author has the ability to make his reader think.—Medical World, Philadelphia.

Thoughts on the Relations of Employer and Workman

A lecture. 8vo, Paper, 16 pp. 10 cents; per hundred, $7.00.

Through this essay, which outlines the evolution of industry, he does not lose sight of his principles; namely, that labor and capital are but equivalents of each other; that the sum of the labor problem is the discovery of the just terms on which the exchange should be made; that the employer has failed to pay proper attention to the labor problem of to-day; that the workmen have studied the problem and have discovered means for the betterment of their own condition.—Current Literature, New York.

DISTINGUISHING FEATURES.

COMMON MEANINGS GIVEN FIRST.—The common meaning of the word is given first, the rarer meanings and etymology afterward. This makes the Standard Dictionary easier to consult and more useful for practical purposes than any other dictionary.

DISPUTED SPELLINGS AND PRONUNCIATIONS have been dealt with more thoroughly than ever before. Not only were they referred to a committee of fifty-seven of the most eminent philologists in English, American, Canadian, Australian, and East-Indian universities for consideration, but the preferences of each member of the committee, and also of all other dictionaries, are given in a special appendix. This is an exclusive feature of the Standard Dictionary.

THE PROPER USE OF PREPOSITIONS has been explained with many illustrations throughout the Standard. This helpful feature is not equaled in other dictionaries.

A VALUABLE SYSTEM OF GROUP INDEXES is provided exclusively in the Standard Dictionary. By this system all the facts concerning important classes of words—such as coins, fruits, flowers, measures, weights, carpentry, printing, astronomy, colors, etc.—are easily ascertained.

COMPOUNDING AND SYLLABICATION OF WORDS have been, for the first time in dictionary-making, reduced to a scientific system in the Standard Dictionary.

THE PROPER USE OF CAPITAL INITIAL LETTERS is indicated throughout the vocabulary, only such words as should be written with a capital being so printed. No other dictionary is a guide in this matter.

THE SOURCES OF QUOTATIONS used to verify or illustrate the meanings of words have been fully indicated, so that any quotation can be easily found in the book or periodical from which it was taken.

THE MANY COLORED PLATES in the Standard are marvels of exquisite art work and definitive value, and far excel in number and beauty anything of the kind in other dictionaries.

THE APPENDIX, containing over 47,000 additional entries, brings together in one alphabetical order the important proper names that are pronounced and explained.

A VALUABLE DEPARTMENT OF "FAULTY DICTION" gives many examples of the wrong use of words, and corrects many common errors.

THE ATLAS OF THE WORLD, with 96 pages of the latest and best colored maps, is an extremely valuable feature of the Standard Dictionary. (In Subscription Edition Only.)

THE NEWEST WORDS INCLUDED.—Many thousands of important new words, brought into use by the various sciences, trades, etc., are exclusively recorded and defined in the Standard.

FULL LISTS OF SYNONYMS AND ANTONYMS.—To the important department of synonyms and antonyms the Standard Dictionary devotes more space than any other dictionary. The Standard is the only dictionary that gives antonyms.

PERMANENT CALENDAR; PORTRAITS OF EDITORS.—A perfect calendar for every year in the Christian era and the portraits of the staff of editors and specialists engaged in preparing the Standard Dictionary are provided. (In Subscription Edition Only.)

It passes the wit of man to suggest anything which ought to have been done that has not been done to make it a success.—Sir J. Norman Lockyer.

Standard First Reader, The (see also under "Teachers' Manual").

This is the first book of the Funk & Wagnalls Standard Reader Series, and is the result of many years of careful labor and of consultation with prominent educators both in America and in England. Throughout the making of this Reader the editors have kept constantly in mind the fact that a child learns words by trying to understand or by trying to tell some thought, and that he will learn these words as readily if the thought is something worth while as if it is trivial. Of the various instructive thoughts preference is given in this Reader to those that give in-form-ation, that build character. Edited by Isaac K. Funk, LL.D. (Editor-in-Chief of the Standard Dictionary), and Montrose J. Moses, B.S. With illustrations by Charles M. Relyea, Louise L. Heustis, Harrie A. Stoner, Oliver J. Nugent, and music by Harriet Ware and Harvey Worthington Loomis. Square 12mo, Cloth, 112 pp. 35 cents.

DISTINGUISHING FEATURES.

I. WORDS ARE TAUGHT IN CONNECTION WITH THOUGHT.

In teaching words to a child the words should not be separated from the thought, and the child should be kept as free as possible from self-consciousness.

II. PUPILS ARE LED TO THINK THOUGHTS THAT ARE WORTH KNOWING AND THAT BUILD CHARACTER.

It is the aim in this series of Readers to make each lesson instructive and character-building.

III. CAREFUL PROVISIONS ARE MADE FOR DRILLS IN THE VOWEL AND CONSONANT SOUNDS.

The object is to have the children, by the time they have finished the book, familiar with the sounds that make up the language.

IV. THE SCIENTIFIC ALPHABET, INVENTED AND RECOMMENDED BY THE LEADING PHILOLOGISTS OF AMERICA AND ENGLAND, IS USED FOR PRONUNCIATION PURPOSES; ONE SOUND FOR EACH SYMBOL, ONE SYMBOL FOR EACH SOUND.

This system of diacritics is superior to all other systems in simplicity, exactness, and thoroughness for training the pupils to pronounce the sounds of the language.

V. THE PUPIL IS TAUGHT TO DETECT AND PRODUCE THE SOUNDS THAT MAKE THE LANGUAGE.

Experiments made by the United States Commissioner of Education, W. T. Harris, show that reading based upon a phonetic system is more readily learned than reading taught without any phonetic system.

VI. THE AIM IS TO GET RID OF EVERYTHING THAT HINDERS CLEAR ENUNCIATION.

Effort should be made to detect and overcome every defect in the action of the organs of speech, such as drawling, stammering, and weakness of voice.

VII. THE ILLUSTRATIONS ARE BY THE VERY BEST ARTISTS, AND HELP TO EXPLAIN THE TEXT.

The aim has been to help fasten thought, not simply to make a picture.

VIII. EVERY EFFORT HAS BEEN MADE TO BRING THE CHILD IN CLOSE SYMPATHY WITH NATURE THROUGH NATURE LESSONS.

A First Reader, especially, is fatally faulty that does not smell of the earth, of the woods, of the new-mown hay, of flowers.

IX. SIX SONGS, SPECIALLY COMPOSED BY MUSICAL EXPERTS, ARE USED IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE PHONETIC DRILLS.

A staff of music is given with each lesson, and all the staves under one group of sounds make a complete song.

X. THE SCRIPT LETTERS USED ARE SO SIMILAR TO PRINT AS TO MAKE THE LEARNING OF SCRIPT INCIDENTAL; THIS LEADS TO NO CONFUSION.

XI. EFFORTS ARE MADE TO INSPIRE PATRIOTISM, HONESTY, COURAGE, CONSCIENCE, INDUSTRY, LOVE FOR FELLOWS, THE BEGINNINGS OF PUBLIC SPIRIT; TO MAKE THE PUPILS SELF-DEPENDENT AND RESOURCEFUL.

No better service can be rendered a child than to give him noble thoughts of his being and of his destiny.

XII. THE TEACHERS' MANUAL, WHICH ACCOMPANIES THE FIRST READER, PRESENTS SUGGESTIVE MATERIAL FOR ALL LESSONS.

A marvel of attractiveness and good sense. Founded upon best methods of the new education and in accord with advanced psychological theories.—The Bulletin, Norwich, Conn.

No other word than "charming" will apply to the appearance of this text-book. No other word than "admirable" will describe its methods. It should be in every school.—The Courier-Journal, Louisville, Ky.

It is the most ambitious attempt in the direction thus far noted. Every aid that it is possible to arrange and that will assist the child has been brought out, and all in a scientific manner. It is the greatest First Reader ever published, and ought to be used in the Cleveland schools.—The Daily World, Cleveland, O.

A book that ought to inspire any teacher.—The Boston Times, Boston, Mass.

It is a text-book triumph.—The Brooklyn Eagle, Brooklyn, N. Y.

At last we have the scientific, practical, pedagogical primer. . . . The book makes a distinct and new epoch in the production of primary readers.—Education, Boston, Mass.

Represents a new idea in education.—The Spy, Worcester, Mass.

If a teacher using your book and following your Manual does not accomplish as much in one year as is usually done in three, something is radically wrong with the teacher and not with the book.—Leo Elskamp, Principal, McKinley, Minn.

Standard First Reader, The

Phonetic Edition

On account of a demand for a First Reader entirely in phonetics, the Funk & Wagnalls Standard First Reader has been issued in a new form for the advocates of a phonetic system. This new edition contains all the features to be found in the common edition of the Standard First Reader with but a few changes where absolutely necessary. Adhering entirely to the phonetic idea, this edition of the Standard First Reader contains only those spellings that are in phonetic forms; but it is so arranged that the Teachers' Manual, published with the common edition of the Reader, may be used to advantage with the Phonetic Reader. 12mo, Cloth, 112 pp. 35 cents.

Standard Second Reader, The

The second book of the Funk & Wagnalls Standard Reader Series contains many distinguishing features of great practical value. It adheres to the idea that only those thoughts are worth remembering that give in-form-ation, that build character, and the editors have aimed to give unity to the entire text of the book by preparing lessons along definite lines. Edited by Isaac K. Funk, LL.D. (Editor-in-Chief of the Standard Dictionary), and Montrose J. Moses, B.S. With illustrations by Reginald B. Birch, Dan Beard, Carter Beard, Oliver J. Nugent, Charles M. Relyea, etc. 12mo, Cloth, 208 pp. 50 cents.

DISTINGUISHING FEATURES.

I. The Second Reader aims to be a literary reader without confining itself entirely to literary subjects.

II. Six systematic lessons on simple subjects in science, easily demonstrated by actual experiments in the classroom, are introduced.

III. Six lessons on flowers, with full-page colored illustrations, make the pupil familiar with some of the common flowers of field and home.

IV. Six lessons dealing with trees tell in story-form and in description much about some of the most familiar trees. These lessons are accompanied by accurate pictures.

V. Six lessons introduce some of the most common animals in such a way as to give the pupil a clear idea of the difference between domestic and wild animals.

VI. In this practical age it is well for children to become familiar with some of the crafts that have entered into and furthered the progress of the nation. Six lessons dealing with crafts have been written with this idea in mind.

VII. The child of seven or eight begins to take interest in the past. Six lessons dealing with events in American history have been carefully graded.

VIII. In literature, lessons have been based upon Washington Irving and his "Knickerbocker History of New York"; Tennyson and his "Idylls of the King"; Longfellow and his stories of "Hiawatha"; Shakespeare and the story of "As You Like It" told from the nature standpoint.

IX. In the belief that where it is possible, subjects taken from literature should be told by the literary men themselves, many quotations showing the simplicity of great literary style have been taken directly from the masters; hence, quotations from Benjamin Franklin, John Ruskin, John Burroughs, and from the poets will be found throughout the book.

X. With the idea that the imagination of a child is dependent largely upon fables, many of the lessons deal with some of the most familiar legends in literature. The story of Lohengrin is told in simple language; many of Æsop's fables have been given in full, all illustrated with pictures that lend themselves readily to special talks by the teacher.

XI. Believing likewise that children enjoy reading for the mere fun of reaching quaint ideas many poems and jingles, to be read and to be memorized, are introduced throughout the book.

XII. Believing also that hands at times should be as busy as brains, a graded series of drawing lessons have been introduced dealing with the simple elements of drawing.

XIII. Each lesson has had a special illustration made for it. Carter Beard, Dan Beard, and Oliver J. Nugent have done some of the nature-drawings; Edwin Willard Deming, the famous Indian artist, has been employed for the lessons on Indian life; Reginald Birch of "Lord Fauntleroy" fame has done some of his best work for the "King Arthur" and "As You Like It" lessons. These are but a few instances to show the care with which the book, from an artistic standpoint, has been prepared.

XIV. The strong educational features so marked in the Funk & Wagnalls First Reader have been further advanced along the same lines in the second book. The Scientific Alphabet is used to a limited degree for pronunciation purposes only, and pronunciation drills and phonetic drills have been carefully mapped out.

XV. All of the lessons have been specially prepared with the idea that they are to appeal to children of a certain age. The editors believe that children will learn only so far as they become interested in a subject. They believe that a simple vocabulary should be aimed at, but that simplicity should not sink into a simpleness that makes the text stiff and artificial. Children are very susceptible to style, without knowing definitely what is meant by the word.

XVI. A Teachers' Manual has been specially prepared to go with this Reader. In it are to be found valuable suggestions regarding the manner of treatment in each lesson, with references to classroom literature, outlines of stories, outlines for lessons apart from those given in the Reader, bibliographies of nature-books, song-books, fables, etc.

Tolstoy, Count Leo (see also under Crosby, Hawthorne, and Maude)

Esarhaddon, King of Assyria, and Other Stories (see "Hour-Glass Stories")

Plays: Also Annotated List of Works ‡

This volume, a new translation by Louise and Aylmer Maude, contains Tolstoy's three great plays, together with the Russian folk-tale, of which one of them is the dramatized version. It also includes a complete annotated and chronological list of Tolstoy's works of special helpfulness to all readers and students of the great Russian writer. List of the plays: The Power of Darkness, or if a Claw is Caught the Bird is Lost.—A drama in five acts. The First Distiller.—A comedy in six acts. Fruits of Culture.—A comedy in four acts. Including also, The Imp and the Crust.—This is a Russian folk-tale, of which "The First Distiller" is the dramatized version. 8vo, photogravure frontispiece, ornamental cover, deckle-edged, gilt top, ribbed olive Cloth. $1.50.

To their literary merit Tolstoy's plays add the quality of being excellent acting dramas, as their success both in Russia and elsewhere has abundantly shown. Mr. Laurence Irving lately wrote: "I suppose England is the only country in Europe where 'The Power of Darkness' has not been acted. It ought to be done. It is a stupendous tragedy; the effect on the stage is unparalleled."

"Between Tolstoy's two great plays," says the translator, "'The Power of Darkness' and 'The Fruits of Culture,' the contrast is very striking. The first is intensely moral, terrible in its earnestness and force. . . . Very different is 'Fruits of Culture': a play brimful of laughter and merriment."

Sevastopol and Other Military Tales †

A new translation by Louise and Aylmer Maude, specially approved by the author. This book relates the author's own experiences, sensations, and reflections during the most noted seige of modern history The translation has been authorized by Count Tolstoy, who has specially commended it for its accuracy, simplicity, and directness. Cloth. $1.50.

No other modern book approaches 'Sevastopol' in the completeness and directness with which it unveils the realities of war. There are picturesque glimpses in Mr. Kipling's vulgar stories of fighting. But the strongest meat Mr. Kipling can provide is milk for babes beside Count Tolstoy's seemingly casual sketches, which yet comprehend with merciless amplitude the whole atmosphere of war.—The Morning Leader, London.

Thoroughly competent and satisfactory, not to say authoritative.—The Athenæum, London.

Tolstoy's Letters and Essays ‡

Containing new translations and fresh matter translated by Aylmer Maude. 12mo, Cloth, 372 pp. $1.00.

As an interpreter, Mr. Maude is excellent, and his earlier chapters have real value in establishing exactly what Tolstoy has meant by his religious speculations and his moral reforms.—The Saturday Review.

Tolstoy, Count Leo—Continued

Tolstoy on Shakespeare

A Critical Essay on Shakespeare by Leo Tolstoy. Translated by V. Tcherkoff and I. F. M. Followed by "Shakespeare's Attitude Toward the Working Classes," by Ernest Crosby, and a letter from G. Bernard Shaw. Also other remarks on the subject. With characteristic vigor and keen insight Tolstoy analyzes the works of the immortal bard. In relentless fashion he strives to show that Shakespeare's genius as a dramatist is much overrated. To do this he measures the man and his works by the modern rules and axioms of the drama. Many readers will not accept Tolstoy's verdict as final, but none can gainsay his wonderful gift of penetration, and his clear method of presenting his view. 16mo, Cloth. $1.00, net.

Winter, John Strange

The Little Vanities of Mrs. Whittaker

A captivating story by the author of "Bootle's Baby," telling in the author's lightest and brightest style the love story of Regina Whittaker—an original heroine with a bias toward independent thought and action in every sphere of life. The incidents leading her to suspect her husband's faithlessness and the complications which resulted are narrated with fine comedy and frequent touches of pathos. 12mo, Cloth, ornamental covers, 300 pp. $1.00.

Any one reading a novel by John Strange Winter can be sure of being amused with delicious satire, good-natured ridicule, and emphatically excellent character-drawing. . . . This novel of English domestic life is brisk and amusing, unobtrusively preaching some timely sermons, so plentifully coated with pleasant incidents that their morals are assimilated unconsciously. It is a very delightful picture of domestic trials and pleasures, and should be much appreciated.—Philadelphia Item.

Especially designed for those teaching the Word of God, whether preachers, catechists, Scripture readers, district visitors, Sabbath-school teachers, or heads of families. 8vo, Cloth, 802 pp. $3.00, net.

The most complete concordance in the English language.—Philip Schaff, D.D., LL.D.

It is thoroughly sound and trustworthy, showing accurate scholarship and unsparing research. —Clergyman's Magazine.

Useful to all Bible students, and especially ministers.—Robert Rainy, D.D.

An invaluable aid to the study of the Scriptures. The volume is one which can well challenge comparison with all its competitors.—The Scotsman.

Bible Lexicons *‡

Being Hebrew-English and Greek-English lexicons to the original Scriptures of the Old and New Covenants, exhibiting all the varied renderings of each word in the English version, and the number of their occurrences; with a Romanized index; also a treatise on the idiomatic use of the Hebrew tenses, analytical surveys of the books, the facts, and the idioms of the Bible. New edition, revised and corrected throughout. Large 8vo, Cloth, 141 pp. $2.50, net.

We commend the volume to the general public but with earnest emphasis to those whose business it is to expound the Scriptures to others.—Christian World, London, England.

Those who are acquainted with the book will wonder how a student can possibly do without it.—The Christian Standard, Philadelphia.

There can be no question of the vast merits of this work. Such a work is simply indispensable, and none are worth using but the very best.—The Congregationalist, Boston.

We could give no better advice to the Bible student than to advise him to secure a copy.—The Interior, Chicago.

Bible Translation *‡

The Holy Bible, Consisting of the Old and New Covenants. Translated according to the letter and idioms of the original languages. 8vo, Cloth, 780 pp. $4.00, net. Second edition revised.

The style throughout is strikingly picturesque and frequently dramatic, while many of the emendations are peculiarly felicitous.—Rev. Adam Stuart Muir, D.D., Leith.

A translation of the Scriptures would be of invaluable use that would be an exact counterpart of the Hebrew; in a word, causing the Scriptures to present to the English reader not only the same general meaning, but even the same minute shades of thought and feeling which they present to those familiar with the original tongues. Mr. Young's translation seems to be admirably adapted to meet this want.—Rev. W. G. Blaikie, D.D.

Young, Robert, LL.D.—Continued.

Young's Analytical Concordance to the Bible *‡

Seventh edition, thoroughly revised and containing 8,000 changes. It includes 311,000 references, making 30,000 New Testament readings. It gives the original Hebrew or Greek of any word in the English Bible with the literal meaning of each, together with parallel passages. This is the only authorized edition in America. In one volume, 4to, Cloth, 1,108 pp., $5.00; Tan Sheep, $7.50; Half Morocco, $9.00; Full Morocco, $12.00, all net. With Denison Thumb-Index, 75 cents extra. With Bible Lexicon (see description, p. 100), Cloth, $6.50, net.

FEATURES OF THE CONTENTS.

ITS ANALYTICAL CHARACTER.—It gives at a glance the various shades of meaning of related words represented in the English by one word. ARRANGEMENT OF PROPER NAMES.—The proper names of all persons and places, unlike most concordances, are given in their alphabetical order with meanings. Dates and eras of all persons are also given, so that they may be distinguished from others of the same name. USEFUL FEATURES FOR STUDENTS.—It enables every student to be his own commentator even if he has no knowledge of the Greek or Hebrew languages. ESPECIALLY HELPFUL ARRANGEMENT.—Every word is given in alphabetical order, and arranged under its Hebrew or Greek original, with the literal meaning of each, and its pronunciation. VALUABLE COMPLEMENTARY ARTICLES.—Helpful supplemental articles add value to this Concordance. The Rev. Thomas Nicol, B.D., of Edinburgh, contributes "A Sketch of Recent Explorations in Bible Lands," outlining the results of recent topographical and archeological investigations in their bearing upon Scriptures. There are also 71 instructive "Hints and Helps on Bible Interpretation."

This monumental work has been made as complete and perfect as could be desired. It has stood the test of the severest criticism. It is adapted to the wants of students of every class. . . . A standard book.—The New York Observer.

Young's Concordance has been for some years a much-prized book of reference in this office, and we could ill afford to exchange it for an inferior substitute.—The Watchman, Boston.

There can be no question of the vast merits of this work. Such a work is simply indispensable, and none are worth using but the very best.—The Congregationalist, Boston.

It is unquestionably the best and most complete work of the kind ever published.—The Episcopal Recorder, Philadelphia.

Not a mere concordance—it is that and a great deal more; . . . it is a wonder how a student can possibly do without it.—Christian Standard.

It is a masterpiece of our time. Any Bible student will find it invaluable.—The Religious Telescope, Dayton, Ohio.

The most accurate, comprehensive, and best work of its kind in all respects that has ever appeared in the English language.—Lutheran Observer, Philadelphia.

Horace Greeley: The Editor

Vol. II. of "American Reformers" Series. With portrait and copious index. 12mo, Cloth, 398 pp. $1.50.

This new biography of Greeley is worthy to stand beside the biographies of Henry Clay by Carl Schurz and of Patrick Henry by Professor Moses Coit Tyler.—The Evangelist, New York.

So vividly portrayed as to give us a striking picture of the man.—The Brooklyn Citizen.

A book which the young, especially the boys, will surely read with interest and profit.—The Chicago Post.

A very fresh, readable account of the life of this eccentric and remarkable man.—The St. Louis Central Baptist.

Zangwill, Israel

Blind Children ‡

The essentially poetic character of Mr. Zangwill's genius in his prose writings has been recognized by the critics. This volume, the first book of poems which Mr. Zangwill has published, supports the truth of this criticism in a remarkable manner. The material of the collection is largely personal, the spirit is imaginative, and the message which reaches his readers is subconscious in its revelation. 12mo, Cloth, ornamental covers, 141 pp. $1.20.

A broad intellectuality flows steadily along, absorbing little rivulets of humor, pathos, keen analysis, wholesome criticism, and practical ideas, forming a definitive connection between the apparently widely separated themes of the poems.—Philadelphia Item.

The strength and depth of their meaning will recur over and over again. . . . The material is largely personal, but wrought together with lively imagination and a subtle charm, which descends to wonderful depths without the slightest effort.—Washington Post.

Zenos, Prof. Andrew C., D.D.

The Elements of the Higher Criticism

The object of this work is not to advocate or oppose any set of theories, but to state and explain the principles and methods of the higher criticism, with reference to the large and growing periodical and book literature on the subject. 12mo, Cloth, 268 pp. $1.00.

While the work is neither a plea nor a philippic, it is eminently reassuring as to the Divine Source of the Holy Scriptures, the Bible.—Arena, Boston.

This is a book of intense interest to all religious folk.—George A. Hepworth, D.D., in the New York Herald.

Zwemer, Samuel M., D.D., F.R.G.S.

Raymund Lull

The life story of the first Christian missionary who carried the gospel to the Moslems. The record of Raymund Lull's life reads like a romance. From the dissolute life of a gay knight in the Court of King James II. of Aragon, he became a monk. So numerous were his literary productions on philosophy, sociology, logic, and theology that their number is unknown. His daring trips to Africa, his unflinching courage, his great strength of faith, his intense suffering, and his tragic death after fifty years of saintly devotion to his mission of converting the Saracens to Christianity, all form some of the most glowing pages in the lives of the world's illustrious Christian heroes. 12mo, Cloth, ornamental covers, 172 pp., 12 full-page half-tone illustrations, introduction by Robert E. Speer, complete bibliography, etc. 75 cents.

It appeals strongly to those who love the heroic, and are fascinated by a picturesque personality.—Chicago Evening Post.

The story is one of the most dramatic in the annals of missions.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Told in Dr. Zwemer's inimitable style, and with the scope and grasp supplied by his almost unequaled understanding of things Mohammedan, this little biography is sure to be of great value to the cause in behalf of which it was written.—The Mission Field.

It is with fellowship of spirit that the author introduces his readers to this hero of the thirteenth century, this little-known man who ranks among the greatest missionaries of all ages.—The Children's Missionary, Baltimore.

This admirable biography emphasizes Lull's own motto: "He who lives by the life can not die!"—Boston Times.

This is a book for the library of missions.—The Morning Star, Boston.

Trade Department

The books described on the following pages are for sale in the trade and may be had through all booksellers. Since they are expensive and are not designed or adapted for text-book use, it will be easily understood that it is not practicable to extend, in connection with these books, the usual privilege of examination copies.

IN our work of presenting the best books for the schools we have acquired a large number of standard books of the highest worth. In response to numerous suggestions, some of these books have been prepared so as to attract and satisfy the book buyer as distinguished from the teacher. The book buyer and teacher may be combined in the same individual, who, however, would choose, in buying a book for his own library or to present to a friend, whether child or adult, a different binding from that which would be preferred for the harder usage of the class room. A few books of standard quality are included which are not in our text-book catalogue, but the list is distinctly educational in the highest sense. We appeal in this department of our business to that great educational public which labors and aspires outside or beyond the confines of the schoolroom of whatever grade.

The following books are not better than our text-books, but they are just as good in a different way. Certain limitations as to price, which must always be considered in making a text-book, are not felt so keenly in a book for general sale. Hence it has been possible to employ more expensive bindings, costlier paper, in some cases, and in general more profuse illustration. In quality of contents and attractiveness of presentation the following books will, we are confident, meet the highest demands of a critical public.

THE JANE ANDREWS BOOKS

THESE famous books, which have had the unusual honor of being translated into German, Chinese, and Japanese, are among the few juvenile stories that have won a permanent place in literature.

Convenient for the pocket, 5¼ x 8½ inches. Price, 25 cents net; 12 copies for $2.50 (carriage extra)

A self-compiling notebook for practical genealogists, consists of a succession of groups of pages, each group arranged to receive the data for a family. When the work of research is finished it will be found that the work of compilation has taken care of itself. A pen is drawn through any unused spaces, and the leaves of the notebook, perforated for that purpose, are detached and arranged and numbered in any order desired, making a manuscript ready for the printer! This notebook is suitable for any form of the "clan" genealogy, which traces the many descendants of a common ancestor.

To borrow the words of Froude, Elizabeth "was a woman and a man: she was herself and Cecil"; and as the masculine alter ego of the great Queen during practically the whole of her critical and difficult reign, Burghley undoubtedly did far more than any other man in his generation to shape and direct the course of English History. The descendants are traced through both the Exeter and the Salisbury lines. There are more than 5,000 known descendants through the Exeter line alone.

FICTION

ROBERT T. BENTLEY

FORESTFIELD

A Story of the Old South

12mo, Cloth, Illustrated, $1.50

The story gives two distinct and contrasted pictures of the life in the South, one before, and the other during the Civil War; and while recalling to the mind of the passing generation things with which it was once familiar, it portrays to the present generation events which, although known only by tradition and record, will never cease to be of deep interest. "The characters and customs of the old Regime now almost gone, are vividly described."—Brooklyn Standard Union.

HENRY BERMAN

WORSHIPPERS

12mo, Cloth, $1.50

In vivid style Mr. Berman has written a narrative of a curious people that may fittingly be called The Intellectuals of the Russian Jewry in America, whose kin at the present hour are leading in the revolt shaking the Czar's domain. The vexation of the average "problem" book is rendered impossible because of the curious Bohemian existence led by the characters who crowd the pages of the story. And yet the serious minded reader will find it somewhat more than entertaining. It is not too much to say that Mr. Berman's book strikes a new note in American literature. He has so assimilated his material that he has practically created a new world to the uninitiated, a world peopled with clever, delightful beings, who are withal very real. The strange figure of the heroine, Katherine Bronski, has few parallels in American fiction.

MELVILLE CHATER

LITTLE LOVE STORIES OF MANHATTAN

12mo, Cloth, $1.25

When these stories first appeared in the New York Sunday Herald, readers were at once so struck by their crisp, laconic style, their sparkle and individuality, their reproduction of metropolitan life, that the tales continued to run uninterruptedly for five months. In response to many requests, they have been collected and are now offered to the public in permanent form. All the world loves a love-story; and these twenty-one little studies of New York City life, each a distinctive bit of local color and characterization, form a unique collection.

PHILIP CRUTCHER

WINGS AND NO EYES

A Comedy of Love

12mo, Cloth, illustrated, $1.50.

"The manœuvres of a poor book agent to marry a wealthy but eccentric novelist in order to attain independent riches present a series of situations calculated to give Mr. Crutcher ample opportunity for a play of humor, which he has taken full advantage of. The many methods and plans which the book agent employs to reach the adamantine heart of the lady of his affections are all deliciously novel and amusing."—New York Times.

WILLARD GOSS DAVENPORT

MILTON BLAIRLEE AND THE GREEN MOUNTAIN BOYS

A Story of the New Hampshire Grants

12mo, Cloth, illustrated, $1.50

This is an exceedingly good story for boys. The hero is a young lad who joins Ethan Allen's famous band of patriots. He has journeyed from Boston to Vermont, where he meets former friends, takes a brave part in the local land-grant troubles, and finally finds the parents from whom he was taken when a child at the capture of Oswego.

GEORGE T. BUFFUM

SMITH OF BEAR CITY, AND OTHER FRONTIER SKETCHES

8vo, Cloth, Illustrated with 6 Photogravures, Price $1.50 net (postage 15 cents)

There are twenty of these stories of frontier life, connected mainly with the author's personal experiences in the mining camps during the eighteen-seventies and early eighties, when the overland stage was in the mail and passenger service, and bull teams hauled the freight. Nearly all of the chief actors in the tragic drama of border settlement and primitive civilization have passed away. The lawlessness which marked those early days, when the professional bad men had a very uncomfortable way of handling their guns, is very vividly described. The deadly strife connected with many of the thrilling events of pioneer life combines the interest of history with the charm of story telling.

HENRY S. DRAYTON, M.D.

IN OUDEMON

Reminiscences of an Unknown People by an Occasional Traveler

12mo, Cloth, $1.50

This is an interesting story of experiences in a strange land, which is located by the author in the heart of South America. There is an attractive vein of romance running through the tale, which entertainingly exploits the author's ethical and sociological theories.

E. A. JOHNSON

LIGHT AHEAD FOR THE NEGRO

12mo, Cloth, $1.00 net

This is a new word on the race problem, and will be read with great interest by those who hope for a peaceful adjustment of this burning question. The author predicts its final settlement through a revolution in Southern sentiment in favor of the Negro, a sentiment founded on the Golden Rule. As Mr. Johnson's past work has been very well received, this book should have many readers. The work combines interesting romance and fiction.

AXEL JOSEPHSSON

SINGOALLA

Translated from the Swedish of Viktor Rydberg

12mo, Cloth, illustrated, $1.25 net (postage 12 cents)

"A weird and fascinating story dealing with a Swedish legend of the middle ages. The book is far out of the ordinary in its vivid pictures and beautiful language. No outline or synopsis can do justice to this remarkable tale. Its mystery and depth fascinate, its idyllic pictures of love and life in the far-off days entrance the mind."—Literary Digest.

F. STRANGE KOLLE

The wounded man proves to be one of Brown's band. At the risk of his own life this boy of fourteen decides to conceal the outlaw from the authorities of the State and Nation; with what success may be seen in the pages of this attractively gotten-up volume.

MADGE MERTON

THE CONFESSIONS OF A CHORUS GIRL

We feel grateful to Madge Merton for her lighthearted confessions."—Critic. "There is an air of reality about the stories which will appeal alike to those who know the stage and those who would like to. Madge Merton is a lively girl and must have been a pleasant chum."—Philadelphia North American.

ADA PATTERSON and VICTORY BATEMAN

BY THE STAGE DOOR

8vo, Cloth, $1.25

"These stories of the stage are strong and true. Not once are they overdrawn. Not once is their realism sacrificed to the straining after effect too common in literature. The book is a faithful portraiture of the lights and shades of life as we players know it."—From the Introduction. "Those who know the stage best are impressed most by these vivid pictures of life thereon."—The Bookseller. "We can recall no book of recent issuance that carries with it a stronger flavor of things theatrical."—Baltimore Sun.

WILLIAM W. PENNELL

THE BUCKEYE DOCTOR

A Tale for Physicians and Physicians' Patients

12mo, Cloth, green top, uncut, $1.50

"There are a number of clever character sketches and a lot of homely philosophy as well as some genuine dialect. The humorous and pathetic are well blended."—Standard Union, Brooklyn. "Dr. Pennell has given us a bit of the world as it is and has done his work well."—Springfield (Mass.) Union. "There is a good deal of humor at times, but the story is tragically interesting when a young man is arrested for body-snatching."—Current Literature.

HENRY PETTIT

A TWENTIETH CENTURY IDEALIST

Illustrated, 12mo, Cloth, $1.50

This is a romance of travel, symbolism and sentiment intended by the author, who has been twice around the world, to bring to Occidental readers something of the wisdom of the East. Adele Cultus, the central character, embodies the aspiration for knowledge of the mysteries; she is the chief figure in a party of Mediterranean travelers who go on to India and the Himalayas, where she enters the cathedral of nature.

HENRY WALLACE PHILLIPS

MR. SCRAGGS

INTRODUCED BY RED SAUNDERS

Illustrated, 12mo, Cloth, $1.25

Red Saunders, whose name is affectionately remembered by a host of readers, opens this new volume by Mr. Phillips with the story of one of the many excursions into matrimony made by his friend, Ezekiel George Washington Scraggs. Mr. Scraggs relates others of his own experience, with characteristic breeziness and disregard of the conventional. This book is certainly Mr. Phillips' best work, and all who have known "Red Saunders" will want this new volume. "Hard to decide which story is the funniest."—N. Y. Times.

LAURA FITZHUGH PRESTON

UNCLE BOB

His Reminiscences

12mo, Cloth, illustrated, $1.25

"Mrs. Preston's delineation of the character and dialect of the Negro is equal to that of Thomas Nelson Page."—Charleston (W. Va.) Gazette. Uncle Bob spins yarn after yarn, ranging from some of the funniest Negro stories ever written to pathetic and even tragic episodes in the history of the old Virginia family which he has so faithfully served for nearly a century.

H. J. D. ROSS

FROM FAR DAKOTA AND OTHERWHERE

12mo, Cloth, $1.00

Mr. Ross tells of the country beyond the Red River of the North in the "seventies," with its lawlessness on the one hand, and its crude, struggling justice on the other. Canada, also, is the scene of some of the stories. Mr. Ross writes from his own personal knowledge of these places and times, and has given his tales a strength and vigor that make them most realistic.

"Simple story, quaintly and humorously told, one that can be read and reread by anyone who loves nature."—Book News. "'The Story of Rube Walcott and his Gettysburg Girl' should win that book a wide audience; full of incident and successful in its spirit of camp and battle field."—Philadelphia Press.

ERNEST U. SMITH

RACHEL

A Story of the Great Deluge

12mo, Cloth, five maps, $1.50

A thrilling tale of a period in which we are all interested and of which little is known. The narrative of the war horrors and terrors of the flood are revealed by a pure and wholesome story, in which the Princess Rachel is the heroine, loyal to her race, notwithstanding their wickedness, devoted to her parents and faithful to her lover. It is the introduction to this work, however, that appeals to the student, as it reconciles historical, scientific and scriptural matters to a remarkable degree. The ingenious theories of the location of the lands of Eden and Nod, and along the same lines, the development of the numerous races of mankind, are almost convincing in their character. The author has given many years to a close study of scriptural affairs, and his book is one that will interest a great many inquiring minds. The historical facts give it value also as a reference book.

GRACE TALBOT

MUCH-MARRIED SAINTS AND SOME SINNERS

12mo, Cloth, $1.00

"The stories are founded on fact instead of being the unfounded offspring of a fertile imagination. They are readable, fresh and interesting. One can not help feeling sympathetic for the heartaches entailed by such a mischievous and pernicious system of religion, nor can one suppress the thrill of indignation at a system propagated by greed and cunning at the expense of ignorance, credulity and superstition."—Indianapolis Sentinel.

MARY IVES TODD

AN AMERICAN ABELARD AND HELOISE

12mo, Cloth, Gilt Top, 300 pp., $1.50

It is, first of all a love story, full of emotion and real tenderness, and after that an indignant protest against various injustices of modern times, in church as well as in state. A fashionable, modern clergyman and his adoring feminine congregation are cleverly depicted, and his change of heart is most striking. The heroine is a fine type of the high-minded American girl, to whom self-sacrifice is no stranger.

There is a literary quality about this work that stamps Mrs. Todd as one of the coming writers of American fiction. The theme of this work is one of the most interesting that human nature knows, that of the relation between woman and religion.

WAES HAEL; THE BOOK OF TOASTS

12mo, Cloth, gilt top, decorative cover, $1.00 net (postage 12 cents)

De Luxe Edition, 510 numbered copies, in vellum and gold, $7.50 net (carriage extra)

The book contains about 1,500 toasts and sentiments suitable for almost every conceivable occasion. In preparing the material for "Waes Hael" innumerable books, both ancient and modern, have been searched for their best contributions. Beside these, the authors have produced considerable original matter, so that it is probably true that nowhere else can be found gathered together such a large number of sentiments, poetical or in prose, suitable for use as toasts as in this book. "Waes Hael" was chosen for a title because it is the early form of a toast. It means "Be well," or, more literally, "Be in health." "About as useful collection of sentiments, both poetical and prose, suitable for use as toasts, as may be found. A wide discrimination has been shown in collecting the material for this book from ancient and modern literature. Much of the matter is new and original"—Chicago Journal. "This is probably the largest collection of toasts ever brought out, and should make a most attractive present for lovers of fine books."—Pittsburg Post News.

THE ART AND CRAFT OF THE AUTHOR

12mo, Cloth, Price, $1.20 net (postage 10 cents)

This volume is designed for the use of the large and constantly increasing class who begin literary work without any special preparation for it. It offers practical suggestions upon the several stages of authorship, which suggestions are based on experience and can hardly fail to be useful. The book is in no way concerned with the technicalities of English composition, but is devoted to a wholly different side of the subject, viz., the principles by which the author should be guided, the objects which should be kept in view, and the methods by which those objects may be attained. The subject is illustrated by reference to the practice of well-known authors; and when the subjects under consderation have been treated by these authors, their works have been carefully consulted and the more important passages quoted.

SOME TRINITARIAN FORGERIES

12mo, Cloth, Price $1.25 net (postage 5 cents)

With admirable clearness and simplicity, the author of this book has stated his beliefs, and as he is a writer and thinker of much prominence, his arraignment of trinitarians is entitled to a careful consideration by all interested. The book opens with the following: "This book is based on the principle that the Bible is true. The majority of Christian people believe the real doctrine of the Bible. The majority of theologians, however, teach certain errors, and accept forged Scriptures to prove them. But heathen ideas operating against the belief in the strict oneness of God influenced some, corruption crept into the church, and there was a combination of the doctrine of many gods with the doctrine of one God. The doctrine of the trinity was decreed by worldly power, and men were commanded to believe it."

J. H. WOODS and C. B. RUNKLE

OUTLINES OF THE VEDANTA SYSTEM OF PHILOSOPHY ACCORDING TO SHANKARA (800 A. D.)

By Paul Deussen, Professor of Philosophy at University of Kiel

Translated by J. H. Woods, Instructor in Philosophy at Harvard University, and C. B. Runkle, of Cambridge, Mass.

12mo, Cloth, $1.00 net (postage 10 cents)

This book is an analysis of the most important of the six great systems of philosophy in India. No book of the kind exists in the English language. Of the six systems, we can hardly say that more than two have been made accessible to Western students by translations of authoritative books. We have Deussen's translations into German, and Thibaut's translation of the sutras of the Vedanta in the Sacred Books of the East. But there is no brief statement in English, until the publication of this book, of Shankara's system. It is hoped that this book will be followed by similar outlines of the Sankhya system and of the Yoga system.

THE THREEFOLD PATH TO PEACE

12mo, Cloth, 75 cents net

The book is dedicated "to those who believe that Justice is a higher virtue than Charity, and that the tendency of one is to elevate mankind and of the other to degrade it." The compiler of this volume writes: "During the winter of 1903-04 a small group of students met for the study of Spiritual Laws and their application to every day life. Among them was one who had been trained to listen for the Inner Voice. Sincerely the Disciple solicited guidance before the meetings, and as the appointed day came, heard and wrote down the lessons contained in this volume. As they proved helpful, it was resolved, in grateful acknowledgment of the guidance vouchsafed, to offer them to a wider public."

Delays, miscarriages and losses of mail matter are in very many cases known to be due to carelessness or ignorance on the part of the sender, rather than to inefficiency of the postal service. Much of this ignorance is due to the want of a popular means of reference to postal laws; and with a view to providing such an aid, the compiler of this manual has selected from the Government publications such information as is commonly needed, and endeavored to present it in the form most convenient for quick reference.

OWEN INNSLY

LOVE SONGS AND OTHER POEMS

16mo, Cloth, $1.00 net (postage 10 cents)

"Perhaps twenty years ago some tender and graceful poems appeared over the pen name 'Owen Innsly' and attracted much attention. It was clear that the writer was a woman, and in Boston she was compared to Mrs. Browning, partly because of the intensity of the love poems and partly because of the author's love of Italy. After a time it came out that 'Owen Innsly' was a Miss Lucy W. Jennison, and soon after, if we are not mistaken, she died. At any rate, her poetry was no longer heard. We are glad to see that the Grafton Press publishes 'Love Songs and Other Poems,' by Owen Innsly, in a pretty little volume. It is poetry of a great deal of merit, too good to be lost so soon."—New York Sun. Miss Jennison is now living abroad. Her first volume, referred to above, has long been out of print, but the new edition contains all the original poems and about as many new ones.

"For those who seek something more than entertainment in their reading, these admirable poems of Bishop Spalding's are designed. But there will be found no narrow advocacy of specific dogma, nor the holding out of warped or partial ideals. To be a Christian and an American is for this good man the gratification of all earthly and heavenly ambition, and his private life and public teachings both prove that he does not dissociate rights and duties nor hold that privilege does not imply, of necessity, responsibility."—Chicago Evening Post.

STUDIES IN VERSE

12mo, Cloth, Price $1.50 net (postage 8 cents)

The title of this book is chosen with a two-fold meaning, for the poems are studies of men and things, covering a wide range which includes science, love, philosophy, narrative and tragedy, while they are, at the same time, studies in verse making. From this latter standpoint they have several peculiarities. The stanza form in many is new, and the rhymes, while correct, are often so carefully hidden by the flow of verse that they must be sought.

This is a book of tales of good fellows who have won out from many odd and humorous predicaments in many sections of the United States, tales that treat of the "strenuous life" from the viewpoint of men who have been up against the real thing. FORD, PAUL LEICESTER

The Honorable Peter Stirling. 12mo, cloth.

One of the strongest and most vital characters that have appeared in our fiction. ART

GOODYEAR, PROFESSOR W. H.

Roman and Mediaeval Art. 12mo, cloth. Revised, enlarged and superbly illustrated.

Properly understood, a history of art is not so much a history of the arts of design as it is a history of civilization. It is this treatment which gives to Professor Goodyear's work its greatest charm. Intended for the general reader rather than the student, there is a complete avoidance of that prolixity of detail which delights the pedantic mind.

Renaissance and Modern Art. 12mo, cloth. Superbly illustrated.

It may be said in general that the wider one's knowledge of history and literature, the more interesting does the art of the Renaissance become; and, conversely, that there is no better introduction to the study of modern history and modern literature at large than the study of this art. The only true philosophy of modern history is that which moves from the Renaissance as its elementary basis.

TARBELL, PROFESSOR F. B.

A History of Greek Art. With an introductory chapter on Art in Egypt and Mesopotamia. 12mo, cloth. Superbly illustrated.

The author, as professor of classical archæology in the University of Chicago, occupies a place of the highest authority in his special field.

"This memoir of Tennyson is admirably carried out, telling the reader precisely what he wants to know, giving an account of what the poems contain, as well as a running commentary upon their character and value, being written, in short, not for the superior person, but for the average man of the world with literary tastes."—Daily Telegraph, London.

McCARTHY, JUSTIN

An Irishman's Story: An Autobiography.

In this book one of the best representatives of Ireland tells the story of his life and work in Ireland, America and England. Not the least interesting chapters cover his long visit to America. His engaging and delightful personality shines forth in all he writes.

The Life of Gladstone: Revised and Enlarged. Post, 8vo, cloth. With portraits.

Mr. McCarthy is one of the most picturesque, graphic and engaging of modern authors. His work as reporter of the House of Commons gave him a thorough knowledge of English politics, and he has been associated in one way and another with many of the leading figures in English life. The author of "A History of Our Own Times" has brought to this work a personal knowledge of, and acquaintance with, the men and events intimatelv connected in the life of Gladstone.

RIIS, JACOB A.

The Making of an American: An Autobiography. 12mo, cloth. With portraits and illustrations.

"The Making of an American" has proved the most popular biography for many years. It has been in demand at the public libraries more regularly than any other book, even including fiction. It is the story of how a friendless, uneducated boy worked his way up by sheer courage and nobility of spirit until he won the record of having done more for the good of the city of New York than any one other individual.

STOCKTON, FRANK

Buccaneers and Pirates of our Coast. 12mo, cloth. With illustrations by George Varian and B. West Clinedinst.

Stories of the rise and decline of buccaneering and piracy in our West Indian waters. Spanish exactions grew so monstrous in the seventeenth century that English, French and Dutch combined against their excesses. The buccaneers who were the result of the combination became later pirates for private gain. Mr. Stockton's quaint humor brightens the stories of their dark deeds.

ECONOMICS AND SOCIAL SCIENCE

BRYCE, JAMES

Social Institutions. 12mo, cloth.

The reputation of Mr. Bryce as an authority on economics and sociological subjects, will commend this book to both general reader and student. ELY, RICHARD T.

The position of Mr. Hunter as President of the Social Reform Club, Chairman of the New York Child Labor Committee, and formerly headworker of the University Settlement of New York, enables him to speak with authority on the subject treated. The main objects of this volume are: To define poverty and to estimate its extent at this time in the United States; to describe some of its evils, and to point out certain remedial actions which society can wisely undertake. A most timely book.

KIDD, BENJAMIN

Social Evolution. New Edition, revised. 12mo, cloth.

"A study of the whole development of humanity in a new light, sustained and strong and fresh throughout. STREETER, DR. JOHN WILLIAM

The Fat of the Land: The Story of an American Farm. 12mo, cloth.

The importance and value of this book to the man on the farm is incalculable, while its vivacity, frankness and good humor make it more interesting to the nature-loving reader than if it were a modern novel of the most exciting kind. The book refutes the oft repeated statement that "farming doesn't pay" and shows that brain power directed to farm management will be as liberally recompensed as when put to work in any other line.

WRIGHT, MABEL OSGOOD

The Garden of a Commuter's Wife. Recorded by the Gardener. 12mo, cloth.

Professor Peabody begins with a careful discussion of the comprehensiveness of this teaching as at once perfectly apt and adequate to every possible condition and need. He then considers the social principles of this teaching, its relation to the family, to the rich, to the care of the poor, to the industrial order. It is vital, searching, comprehensive. The Christian reader will find it an illumination; the non-Christian, a revelation.

VAN DYKE, HENRY

The Gospel for an Age of Doubt. New revised edition. 12mo, cloth.

Originally written in the form of a course of lectures on preaching, in the "Lyman Beecher Foundation," and delivered before the divinity students of Yale University. But the aim of these lectures was not to teach the art of making sermons. It was to accentuate the truth that the question, What to preach, comes first, and the question, How to preach, comes afterward; to tell the men who were studying for the ministry that they must not be educated out of sympathy with the modern world, and to show that there is a message of religion especially fitted to meet the needs of the times.

LITERATURE: ESSAYS, ETC.

BROOKE, STOPFORD A.

English Literature. Large 16mo, cloth.

This work was first issued by Macmillan & Company in 1876, under the title of "A Primer of English Literature," and won the warm approbation of Mathew Arnold, whose essay, "A Guide to English Literature," is a critical estimate of Mr. Brooke's method and results. Its sobriety of taste, its keen and just criticism, its learning and its admirable conciseness have made it, both in England and America, the one book on English literature which scholars and men of letters have agreed in approving.

WINTER, WILLIAM

Shakespeare's England. New edition, revised, with many illustrations. 12mo, cloth.

Beautiful and storied scenes that have soothed and elevated the mind, naturally inspire a feeling of gratitude. Prompted by that feeling, the author has written this record of his rambles in England. The title was chosen for the reason that the book relates largely to Warwickshire and because it depicts not so much the England of fact, as the England created and hallowed by the spirit of her poetry, of which Shakespeare is the soul.

MABIE, HAMILTON WRIGHT

Parables of Life. With illustrations by W. Benda. 12mo, cloth.

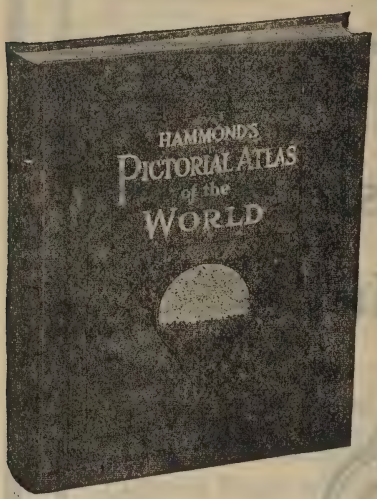
The Pictorial Atlas of the World



EVERYBODY should have at his command the Pictorial Atlas and Gazetteer of the World, an absolutely reliable, up-to-date work, easily handled and brimming over with crisp, terse facts, laid down with direct, business-like precision!

Nearly everybody has a ponderous atlas of a generation or more ago. These cumbersome old volumes will answer, satisfactorily enough, questions as to conditions then. It is only necessary to compare this brand new work with the musty volume of yore to realize the changes time has wrought.

When we have occasion to refer to an atlas we want boiled down facts concerning conditions to-day.

We want populations, the scope of railroads, the political contours of countries, etc.. etc., as they are to-day.

This splendid, beautifully and artistically illustrated atlas, as a book of reference in the office of the business man, is a source of the greatest usefulness; in the home library a constant satisfaction and delight, and in the schoolroom, incalculably serviceable.

CONTENTS

THE GAZETTEER—contains an alphabetical index listing completely the towns of the world, including all places in the United States of over 500 inhabitants, and giving the official censuses as late as 1905. Also a Topical Cyclopedia of Geography, alphabetically arranged (occupying more than 100 pages), containing a wealth of entirely up-to-date information about countries, mountains, islands, rivers and other physical aspects of the globe.

THE ILLUSTRATIONS—form a charming collection of photographic reproductions that are properly called "The World in Halftone." These beautiful pictures range in size from two inches square to half a page. They appear on an average of two to a page, and number in their midst innumerable portraits of types, and some of the rarest and fairest views in the world.

THE MAPS—are clear, accurate and by reason of their delicate, harmoniously blended coloring are of rare beauty. Boundaries are distinct. The names of towns are printed in graded type indicating their size. A unique marginal index of great value shows the area of each state and its population by sex, race and color; towns are arranged in order of their size, and counties alphabetically.

TYPE AND BINDING The type throughout is large, clean-cut and legible, and the work is attractively and durably bound in cloth.

THE PICTORIAL ATLAS—in short, is so compiled as to be absorbingly interesting, entertaining, instructive and invaluable in office, study or schoolroom.

It has caught the spirit of the times! The work is brand new from cover to cover.

These changes have been recorded in the Modern Atlas of the World. One hundred and more new, beautifully colored maps, with handy marginal indexes, representing every portion of the earth, show all countries as they are to-day.

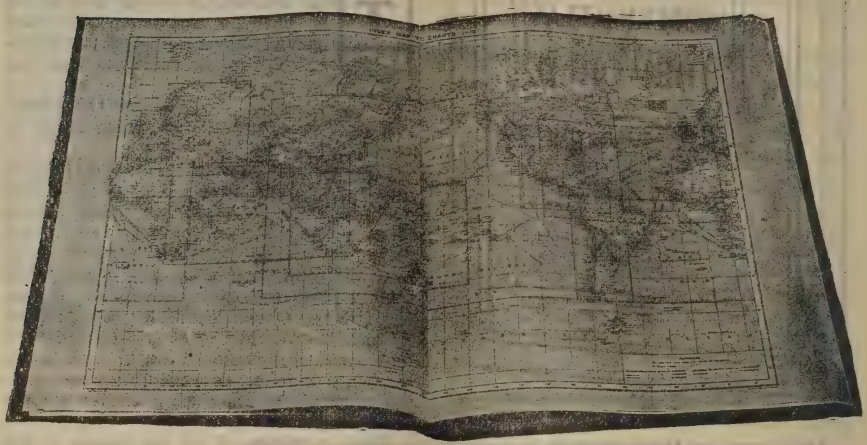
THE MERCANTILE MARINE ATLAS OF THE WORLD



The Most Scholarly Atlas Extant, Containing a Volume of Data Not to be Found Elsewhere. Of Inestimable Value as a Reliable Book of Reference, in the Office or Library of the Man of Affairs Throughout the World.

THIS cyclopedia of hydrography numbers in its contents over one hundred charts and plans, tables of eighty-six hundred distances between ports, national and house flags, lists of United States and British Consulates, a complete index of twenty thousand ports, etc., etc.

Some of the features of the Mercantile Marine Atlas of the World:

The steamer routes shown correspond exactly with the courses followed, and distances have been most carefully calculated. Mail routes are distinguished by red lines, the time occupied and the distance in miles being given. Telegraph cables are shown on the general charts, and also marked on the physical maps of the oceans, showing sea depths. On all the general charts the hundred fathom line is laid down, and danger points, lighthouses, lightships, canals, and navigable rivers are shown. The through railway lines are also indicated. Towns are distinguished according to their relative populations. Naval stations, coaling stations, docks, and American and British Consulates are located. Mercator's Projection has been worked out in single degrees in the general maps to facilitate the laying down of new or special routes.

A large number of inset plans shows the relative extent and harbor accommodation of the principal seaports of the world, also the separate docks, and the depth of the water in the channels by which they are approached.

The physical geography of the oceans has been exhaustively treated in a series of maps, embracing charts of the winds, ocean currents, co-tidal lines, magnetic variation and salinity of the sea; supplementary maps illustrate the visibility of the land, the rise of tides in different parts of the world, depth of the sea, etc., etc.

The introduction contains an immense amount of nautical information including statistics of merchant shipping and tables of comparative values of foreign currencies.

The index contains all the coast names, including seaports, bays, capes, etc., given on the charts, with their latitude and longitude.

Size of book closed, 15½ inches wide, 19¾ inches long and 1 inch thick. Size of double page maps, 31¼ x 19 inches.

Philips' Political Series of Large Schoolroom Maps

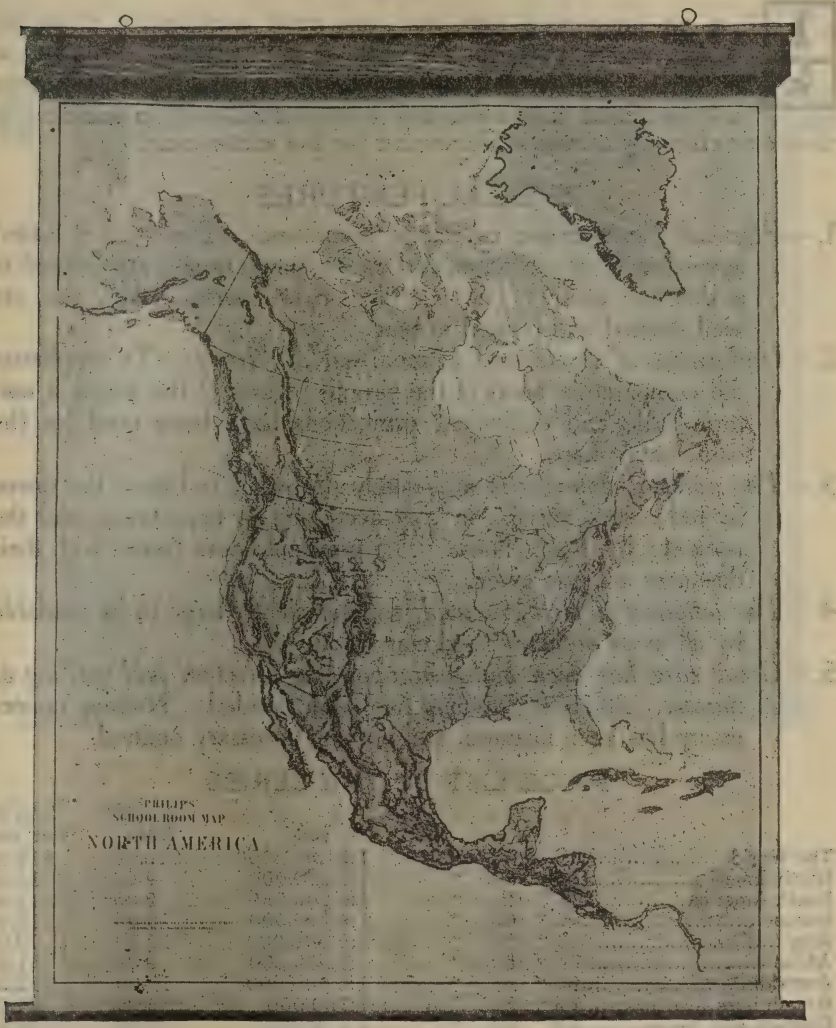
Reduced Photographic Reproduction



This cut shows the map of North America in our "Unit" case, as it appears when extended ready for use.

THE maps of this series can be read across the largest schoolroom.

Even on the above small reduction, it will be seen that the names of the political divisions and surrounding waters of North America are easily distinguishable.

The Comparative Series of Large Schoolroom Maps

IT is an undoubted fact that the most serviceable maps for class teaching purposes are those that illustrate clearly, and at a glance, both Political and Physical Features. This New Series will be found to possess this combination, and, in addition, to form an extremely attractive decoration for the schoolroom.

SPECIAL FEATURES

1.—Physical Features are especially prominent. The land is tinted according to its elevation, and the mountain ranges are printed in a different color. The coastline, river courses, lakes, etc., are well defined and printed in blue.

2.—Uniformity of Scale and Comparison of Areas:—To emphasise the comparative areas of the various regions of the world, a uniform scale and equivalent projections have been used for the continental maps.

3.—The political boundaries are clearly shown by red lines, the towns by red circles, varying in size according to importance, and the railways by black lines. The principal ocean routes with their distances are also given.

4.—The lettering is well executed, and sufficiently large to be readable by all in an ordinary sized class-room.

5.—Great care has been bestowed upon the selection and spelling of names. All overcrowding has been avoided. Nothing unnecessary has been inserted, and nothing necessary omitted.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Every teacher must have experienced the difficulty of obtaining a satisfactory Map of the World on a large scale for class use. Heretofore such maps have invariably been constructed either on a Globular Projection or upon that known as Mercator's. Both of these projections have their advantages, but are deficient in the following important respects:—

The Globular Projection shows the world in two separate Hemispheres side by side, and, whilst it is a useful method of comparing the relative sizes of the various land and sea areas, it is extremely puzzling for children to learn from such a map the relative positions of the different countries and the means of communication between them. Mercator's Projection satisfactorily overcomes the difficulty as regards relative position and means of communication, but is extremely misleading as to the relative sizes of the various countries.

To overcome these objections THE COMPARATIVE MAP OF THE WORLD has been constructed on what is known as the Equivalent Projection. This projection, although rapidly growing in favor with leading cartographers, has never before been employed on so large a scale for educational use, although it is pre-eminently suited for teaching purposes.

It is the only projection in which the Equivalent Areas or correct sizes of all parts of the world are preserved in combination with their relative position to each other; and it is the possession of these two important features which has led to its adoption in the Comparative Series of Large School-room Maps.

A glance at the accompanying reduced facsimile of the map will show that the entire earth is represented in the shape of an ellipse, the major axis of which represents the equator, whilst its minor axis represents the central meridian. All other meridians of longitude appear as ellipses, whilst the parallels of latitude appear as parallel straight lines, the intervals between them being regulated in such manner as to ensure Equivalent Areas. To emphasize the advantages the Equivalent Projection possesses over other methods of representing the globe on a flat surface, and to give Teachers the material for explaining the elements of Map Projection, inset maps of the World in Hemispheres and on Mercator's Projection have been added, together with maps on a Polar Projection, giving the Arctic and Antarctic Regions.

Philips' Special Series of Schoolroom Maps

The most Up-to-Date, Practical and Serviceable School Maps on the Market.

THE Special Series contains features that are embraced in no other maps made for schoolroom use!

Through railroads and steamship routes are conspicuously shown on every map in heavy red.

Trade centers of each country throughout the world are strongly indicated with large red symbols.

From the foregoing it will be noted that great prominence has been given to commercial geography. No other single series combines, in so complete and comprehensive a manner, physical, political and commercial features.

These maps are splendidly colored. Each separate country stands out sharply and distinctly so that its contour is indelibly stamped on the memory. Mountain ranges are printed in brown.

All recent political changes have been heeded, and the boundaries of countries appear as they are to-day.

The keynote of the Special Series is simplicity. While no feature of importance has been omitted, no superfluous matter has been allowed to crowd the maps to distract attention from the salient points with which it is essential that pupils be impressed.

THE through railroad lines and the steamship routes can be plainly seen even in as small a reduction as the above. The symbols showing the trade centers are equally clear. For example, in the original we see at a glance that Caracas, Valencia, Cumana, Ciudad Bolivar and Truxillo are the trade centers of Venezuela, etc.

GEOGRAPHICAL TERMS

A Splendid New Chart Illustrating Clearly, Concisely and Interestingly the Initiatory Steps in the Study of Geography.

The following subjects are illustrated in beautifully harmonizing colors:

1.—A Large Pictorial Landscape, Illustrating Graphically the Chief Features of Land and Water.
2.—A Large Map Corresponding With the Landscape, Illustrating the Various Geographical Definitions, Political and Physical.
3.—Picture of Schoolhouse, and Ground Plan of Same.
4.—Picture of Neighborhood Surrounding School, and Corresponding Map.
5.—Picture Illustrating Method of Ascertaining Direction by the Sun.
6.—Map of World, Illustrating Points of the Compass.
7.—Map of World, Showing Divisions of Land and Water, Zones, etc.
8.—The World in Space.

¶ It is suggested that the picture and the map be always taught together. When the children can recognize the course of the river on the picture they should trace it on the map. Afterwards the picture can be used as a blank map is used, i. e., for testing the knowledge of the class.

Points to Which Attention May Be Drawn.

¶ The clouds working up and covering the mountains; all except the high peak in the distance. The snow-covered mountain range and the glacier, the source of the river. Its unnavigable portion to the waterfall; below the waterfall boats can sail upon it. This part is called the lower river; the other the upper river. The valley through which the upper river runs has been worn wider by the rain and frost, and deeper by the river.

¶ The hills are barren, and on the lower ground are trees; firs in left hand corner, and a group of seven poplars on the bank of the stream.

¶ The old village nestles in a valley near the bridge, its church tower being plainly seen, while the new town with its docks and chimneys stands near the harbor. [Harbors were not safe in early days, sea robbers visited them, so towns were built far up the stream.]

¶ Point out the valleys running across the picture from left to right. The top one has been eaten into by the sea, the others are drained by streams which flow into the other river.

¶ Across the plain a railway runs, keeping to the level ground but going as direct as possible.

¶ The breakwater is so arranged that the sea waves driven by the westerly winds shall not run up the harbor. There is smooth water and safe anchorage in the harbor. Breakwaters are built by man.

¶ The word Archipelago (pr. Arkipel′ago) is used to indicate either the water space in which there are islands, or the islands themselves.

¶ The rocks of the Peninsula Headland are of limestone, white and hard. The cliffs forming the Cape are of clay and are easily worn. The island is being gradually washed away by the sea.

New Map of the World

Equivalent Projection.

In this illustration we have merely indicated, with the barest outline, the magnificent new map of the World on the equivalent projection. The original covers a surface considerably over six hundred times greater, and it would be manifestly impossible to portray its multitudinous features in so small a drawing.

This spendid achievement overcomes many objectionable features of distortion in other maps. It has won the approval of the United States Government and of the leading cartographers of Europe.

The New Map of the World presents to view, in one continuous map, with all areas in true proportion, the entire surface of the earth, in rich, harmonious color!

Everybody needs a map which portrays the world as it is—which has the changes in countries, cities, etc., etc., that have occurred in the last few years, and which shows every country with its capital; cities, ports, railroads, canals, mountains, lakes, streams, ocean depths, submarine cables, and numberless other important features.

On the marginal space appears a complete index, locating and giving the population of every country, according to the latest censuses—all cities of over fifty thousand inhabitants, and the islands of the world.

The proximity of map and index (a feature exclusive with this map) adds infinitely to its efficiency.

Commercial Map

of the United States.

A big exhaustive map of the United States is a necessary element in the equipment of an office.

The latest published, the "Commercial," is a marvel of accuracy and completeness, and contains innumerable features that are found on no other single sheet map on the market.

Its expansive proportions admit of it containing data that could not be intelligibly embraced in the smaller kind.

The up-to-date business man needs an up-to-date map.

If the wall space is limited, buy a "Commercial" map on a spring roller in a "Unit" case, which protects it from dust and grime when not in use.

The Commercial Map of United States Contains:

Every state, territory, county, county seat, city; also post offices and railroad stations; every mile of railroad, the routes of regular water transportation lines (including those of the Great Lakes), all the rivers, lakes, mountains (with elevations of principal peaks), canals, Indian reservations, timber reserves, national parks, etc., etc.

An index of principal cities of the United States is shown as indicated on the cut.

The engraving is of the highest order, and the printing and mounting, the best.

CHARLEVOIX'S HISTORY OF NEW FRANCE

Translated from the original edition, with notes, by Dr. John Gilmary Shea. A new edition, with life of the Translator and Bibliography of his writings, by Noah Farnham Morrison.

The importance of Dr. Shea's translation of Rev. P. F. X. De Charlevoix's History and General Description of New France, as an original authority and standard reference work cannot be overestimated. The New France of that date (1740) was far more than what we now know as Canada. It embraced the best part of the North American Continent. Thus Charlevoix, besides giving a full history of Canada down to 1740, relates in detail the early annals of Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, New York, Michigan, Illinois and Northwestern States, and Louisiana, Arkansas, and Texas. This new edition contains over 40 illustrations, including all the maps, steel portraits, etc. Limited to 750 numbered sets. 6 vols., 8vo, cloth, uncut. $18.00 net per set

This important work, of which a very limited number was published by the author thirty years ago, is now very rare. A fire having destroyed a large portion of certain of the volumes, only about 150 complete sets were ever sold.

AMERICAN EXPLORERS SERIES NO. 4

History of Early Steamboat Navigation on the Missouri River

By MAJOR HIRAM M. CHITTENDEN, U. S. ENGINEER CORPS.

The Life and Adventures of Joseph La Barge, Pioneer Navigator and Indian Trader. For fifty years identified with the commerce of the Missouri Valley. Map, portraits, and illustrations from early photographs. 2 vols. 8vo, cloth. (Edition limited to 950 copies.) $6.00 net

A valuable and interesting original work by the author of "The American Fur Trade of the Far West." Very few people now have any conception of the part the steamboat navigation of the Missouri River played in the upbuilding of the West. The business of the fur trade, the intercourse of government agents with the Indians, the campaigns of the army throughout the valley and the wild rush of gold-seekers to the mountains, all depended, in greater or less degree, upon the Missouri River as a line of transportation. No other river in this country has a record to compare with it. From beginning to end it abounds in thrilling incident, and the life which it fostered was full of picturesque and even tragic details.

TITLE INDEX.

General titles, such as Poems, Essays, Reminiscences, Sermons, Works, etc., are omitted in this Index, as they are, necessarily, connected with the authors' names, and are thus indexed in the main body of the Trade-List.

Biographies are indexed here only when not already indexed in the Trade-List.

Histories and Travels, as a rule, are indexed under their respective countries.

Prints, Portfolios, Theatrical Souvenirs, and Paper-bound books are not included in this index. See pages 35–39 inclusive.

FOUR NOVELS WORTH READING

The Awakening of Helena Richie

By MARGARET DELAND

Author of "Old Chester Tales," "Dr. Lavendar's People, etc.

MRS. DELAND has wrought a tale of intense emotional heights and depths that dwarfs by comparison her former stories. The same delightful Old Chester people are here, entering into a profound drama of which Helena Richie, a beautiful young woman and a new-comer to Old Chester, is the centre. It is the story of the awakening of her nobler self, her renunciation and turning from the past, through the unconscious influence of a little boy whom Dr. Lavendar and Willy King interest her in adopting.

With Illustrations by Walter Appleton Clark. Frontispiece in Four Colors. Price, $1.50

Fenwick's Career

By Mrs. HUMPHRY WARD

Author of "Lady Rose's Daughter," etc.

MRS. WARD'S recent novels have portrayed wonderfully real and charming heroines—Julie le Breton, in Lady Rose's Daughter, and Lady Kitty, in The Marriage of William Ashe.. In her latest novel she again evinces her unrivaled power to create feminine loveliness in its most noble and appealing aspects.

Eugenie is a character more delicate and elusive than any Mrs. Ward has yet attempted to draw.—London Times.

Illustrated by Albert Sterner - - - - - - - - - - - - Price, $1.50

TWO-VOLUME EDITION DE LUXE—Limited to 498 numbered sets, with autograph of Mrs. Ward. Illustrations by Sterner in photogravure on Japan paper. Deckel Edges, Gilt Tops, Specially Boxed - - - - - - - - - - Price, net, $5.00

The Call of the Blood

By ROBERT HICHENS

Author of "The Garden of Allah," etc.

THE strange emotional power and unusual feeling for nature which made The Garden of Allah unique are again evidenced in Mr. Hichens's later book, which excels its predecessor in sustained interest and strength of plot. The scene is Sicily; the characters are a group of interesting English people. The hero, however, is of Sicilian descent, and in him the intense romantic temperament of the Southern races speedily asserts itself in its native environment. From this develops a plot of strong and unusual features.

Illustrated by Orson Lowell - - - - - - - - - - Price, $1.50

Buchanan's Wife

By JUSTUS MILES FORMAN

Author of "The Island of Enchantment," etc.

THIS is the story of a woman who dared to wrest to herself the love and happiness that were denied her by cruel circumstance. The story remains poised over a situation daring and unique, until the thrilling climax comes with a rush of surprise. A more dramatic story, with the outcome of a woman's fight for love held in breathless suspense, it would be difficult to imagine.

are not described in this Catalogue, but Circulars of same will be mailed upon application.

For 1906.

Our line is made up as usual of the most desirable sizes and styles in the market.

THE BLACK FACE TYPE TEACHERS' and TEXT BIBLES, which we issued for the first time last season became popular at once, not only with the trade but with the retail purchaser. Their sales were gratifyingly large and there is every indication that they will be larger this year.

This year we have added to our line of Red Letter Editions—

The Ideal Red Letter Teachers' Bible. See page 28.

The Pictorial Red Letter Teachers' Bible. See page 27.

The Red Letter Vest Pocket New Testament. See page 25.

Our specialties in the lines that have been so phenomenally successful comprise the following: Text Bibles; the Ideal Teachers' Bibles, in three sizes—Minion 16mo, Minion 8vo, and Large, Clear Bourgeois 8vo—all of which contain the latest and most serviceable Helps in the smallest compass; the Pictorial Teachers' Bibles containing the kind of pictures that appeal most strongly to the reader; the Linear Bible, a wonderfully clear combination of the two versions—the Vest-Pocket Testament and the Large-Type Testament. All these Special Editions are Self-Pronouncing. We also publish the Pictorial Scholars' Bible and the Home Bible, notable successes, in the plain text.

The bindings on all the above lines are Absolutely Flexible, and are not equalled in this respect by any others published. For detailed description, specimen of type, illustrations, prices, etc., see pages following. For complete list of our publications, see Index on inside cover page.

The NEW SELF-PRONOUNCING FAMILY BIBLE, described on pages 30 to 37, is the finest Family Bible ever offered to the trade at the prices mentioned. We make the largest line of Family Bibles, have more sets of plates, a greater range of contents, more styles of cover designs, more variety of bindings than any other house in America.

THE HOLMAN LINE OF BIBLES is complete, well known, popular, and fast selling. If you are not handling these Bibles it will pay you to investigate. Prices sent on request.

AND it came to pass, when men began to multiply on the face of the earth, and daughters were born unto them,

2 That the sons of God saw the daughters of men that they were fair: and they took them wives of all which they chose.

3 And the LORD said, My spirit shall not always strive with man, for that he also is flesh: yet his days shall be an hundred and twenty years.

4 There were giants in the earth in those days; and also after that, when the sons of God came in unto the daughters of men, and they bare children to them, the same became mighty men which were of old, men of renown.

5 ¶ And GOD saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually.

Generations of Terah. GENESIS, 12. God calleth Abram.

17 And Ē′bĕr lived after he begat Pē′leg four hundred and thirty years, and begat sons and daughters.
18 And Pē′leg lived thirty years, and begat Rē′u:
19 And Pē′leg lived after he begat Rē′u two hundred and nine years, and begat sons and daughters.
20 And Rē′u lived two and thirty years, and begat Sē′rug:
21 And Rē′u lived after he begat Sē′rug two hundred and seven years, and begat sons and daughters.
22 And Sē′rug lived thirty years, and begat Nā′hôr:
23 And Sē′rug lived after he begat Nā′hôr two hundred years, and begat sons and daughters.
24 And Nā′hôr lived nine and twenty years, and begat Tē′rah:
25 And Nā′hôr lived after he begat Tē′rah an hundred and nineteen years, and begat sons and daughters.
26 And Tē′rah lived seventy years, and begat Ā′brăm, Nā′hôr, and Hā′ran.
27 ¶ Now these are the generations of Tē′rah: Tē′rah begat Ā′brăm, Nā′hôr, and Hā′ran; and Hā′ran begat Lŏt.
28 And Hā′ran died before his father Tē′rah in the land of his nativity, in Ûr of the Chăl′dees.
29 And Ā′brăm and Nā′hôr took them wives: the name of Ā′brăm's wife was Sā′rāi; and the name of Nā′hôr's wife, Mĭl′cah, the daughter of Hā′ran, the father of Mĭl′cah, and the father of Ĭs′cah.
30 But Sā′rāi was barren; she had no child.
31 And Tē′rah took Ā′brăm his son, and Lŏt the son of Hā′ran his son's son, and Sā′rāi his daughter in law, his son Ā′brăm's wife; and they went forth with them from Ûr of the Chăl′dees, to go into the land of Cā′năan; and they came unto Hā′ran, and dwelt there.
32 And the days of Tē′rah were two hundred and five years: and Tē′rah died in Hā′ran.

CHAPTER 12.

1 God calleth Abram, and blesseth him with a promise of Christ: 4 he departs from Haran. 6 Canaan promised.

NOW the LORD had said unto Ā′brăm, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will shew thee:
2 And I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great; and thou shalt be a blessing:
3 And I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee: and in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed.
4 So Ā′brăm departed, as the LORD had spoken unto him; and Lŏt went with him: and Ā′brăm was seventy and five years old when he departed out of Hā′ran.
5 And Ā′brăm took Sā′rāi his wife, and Lŏt his brother's son, and all their substance that they had gathered, and the souls that they had gotten in Hā′ran; and they went forth to go into the land of Cā′năan; and into the land of Cā′năan they came.
6 ¶ And Ā′brăm passed through the land unto the place of Sī′chem, unto the plain of Mō′reh. And the Cā′năan-ite was then in the land.
7 And the LORD appeared unto Ā′brăm, and said, Unto thy seed will I give this land: and there builded he an altar unto the LORD, who appeared unto him.
8 And he removed from thence unto a mountain on the east of Bĕth′-el, and pitched his tent, having Bĕth′-el on the west, and Hā′ī on the east: and there he builded an altar unto the LORD, and called upon the name of the LORD.
9 And Ā′brăm journeyed, going on still toward the south.
10 ¶ And there was a famine in the land: and Ā′brăm went down into Ē′gўpt to sojourn there; for the famine was grievous in the land.
11 And it came to pass, when he was come near to enter into Ē′gўpt, that he said unto Sā′rāi his wife, Behold now, I know that thou art a fair woman to look upon:
12 Therefore it shall come to pass, when the Ē-gўp′tians shall see thee, that they shall say, This is his wife: and they will kill me, but they will save thee alive.
13 Say, I pray thee, thou art my sister: that it may be well with me for thy sake; and my soul shall live because of thee.

The Ammonite insult. 1 SAMUEL, 12. Samuel reasons wit Israel.

besh said unto Nahash, Make a covenant with us, and we will serve thee.

2 And Nahash the Ammonite answered them, On this condition will I make a covenant with you, that I may thrust out all your right eyes, and lay it for a reproach upon all Israel.

3 And the elders of Jabesh said unto him, Give us seven days' respite, that we may send messengers unto all the coasts of Israel: and then, if there be no man to save us, we will come out to thee.

4 ¶ Then came the messengers to Gibeah of Saul, and told the tidings in the ears of the people: and all the people lifted up their voices, and wept.

5 And, behold, Saul came after the herd out of the field; and Saul said, What aileth the people that they weep? And they told him the tidings of the men of Jabesh.

6 And the Spirit of God came upon Saul when he heard those tidings, and his anger was kindled greatly.

7 And he took a yoke of oxen, and hewed them in pieces, and sent them throughout all the coasts of Israel by and there they made Saul king before the LORD in Gilgal; and there they sacrificed sacrifices of peace offerings before the LORD; and there Saul and all the men of Israel rejoiced greatly.

CHAPTER 12.

1 Samuel reasons with Israel. 16 He admonishes them. 20 Comfort in God's mercy.

AND Samuel said unto all Israel, Behold, I have hearkened unto your voice in all that ye said unto me, and have made a king over you.

2 And now, behold, the king walketh before you: and I am old and grayheaded; and, behold, my sons are with you: and I have walked before you from my childhood unto this day.

3 Behold, here I am: witness against me before the LORD, and before his anointed: whose ox have I taken? or whose ass have I taken? or whom have I defrauded? whom have I oppressed? or of whose hand have I received any bribe to blind mine eyes therewith? and I will restore it you.

length of it and in the breadth of it; for I will give it unto thee.

18 Then Abram removed his tent, and came and dwelt in the plain of Mamre, which is in Hebron, and built there an altar unto the LORD.

CHAPTER XIV.

The battle of the kings.

AND it came to pass in the days of Amraphel king of Shinar, Arioch king of Ellasar, Chedorlaomer king of Elam, and Tidal king of nations;

2 That these made war with Bera king of Sodom, and with Birsha king of Gomorrah, Shinab king of Admah, and Shemeber king of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela, which is Zoar.

3 All these were joined together in the vale of Siddim, which is the salt sea.

4 Twelve years they served Chedorlaomer, and in the thirteenth year they rebelled.

5 And in the fourteenth year came Chedorlaomer, and the kings that were with him, and smote the Rephaim in Ashteroth Karnaim, and the Zuzim in Ham, and the Emim in Shaveh Kiriathaim,

6 And the Horites in their mount Seir, unto El-paran, which is by the wilderness.

7 And they returned, and came to En-mishpat, which is Kadesh, and smote all the country of the Amalekites, and also the Amorites, that dwelt in Hazezon-tamar.

8 And there went out the king of Sodom, and the king of Gomorrah, and the king of Admah, and the king of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela, (the same is Zoar;) and they joined battle with them in the vale of Siddim;

18 And Melchizedek king of Salem brought forth bread and wine: and he was the priest of the most high God.

19 And he blessed him, and said, Blessed be Abram of the most high God, possessor of heaven and earth:

20 And blessed be the most high God, which hath delivered thine enemies into thy hand. And he gave him tithes of all.

21 And the king of Sodom said unto Abram, Give me the persons, and take the goods to thyself.

22 And Abram said to the king of Sodom, I have lifted up mine hand unto the LORD, the most high God, the possessor of heaven and earth,

23 That I will not take from a thread even to a shoelatchet, and that I will not take any thing that is thine, lest thou shouldest say, I have made Abram rich:

24 Save only that which the young men have eaten, and the portion of the men which went with me, Aner, Eshcol, and Mamre; let them take their portion.

CHAPTER XV.

God's promise to Abram.

AFTER these things the word of the LORD came unto Abram in a vision, saying, Fear not, Abram: I am thy shield, and thy exceeding great reward.

2 And Abram said, Lord GOD, what wilt thou give me, seeing I go childless, and the steward of my house is this Eliezer of Damascus?

3 And Abram said, Behold, to me thou hast given no seed: and, lo, one born in my house is mine heir.

4 And, behold, the word of the LORD came

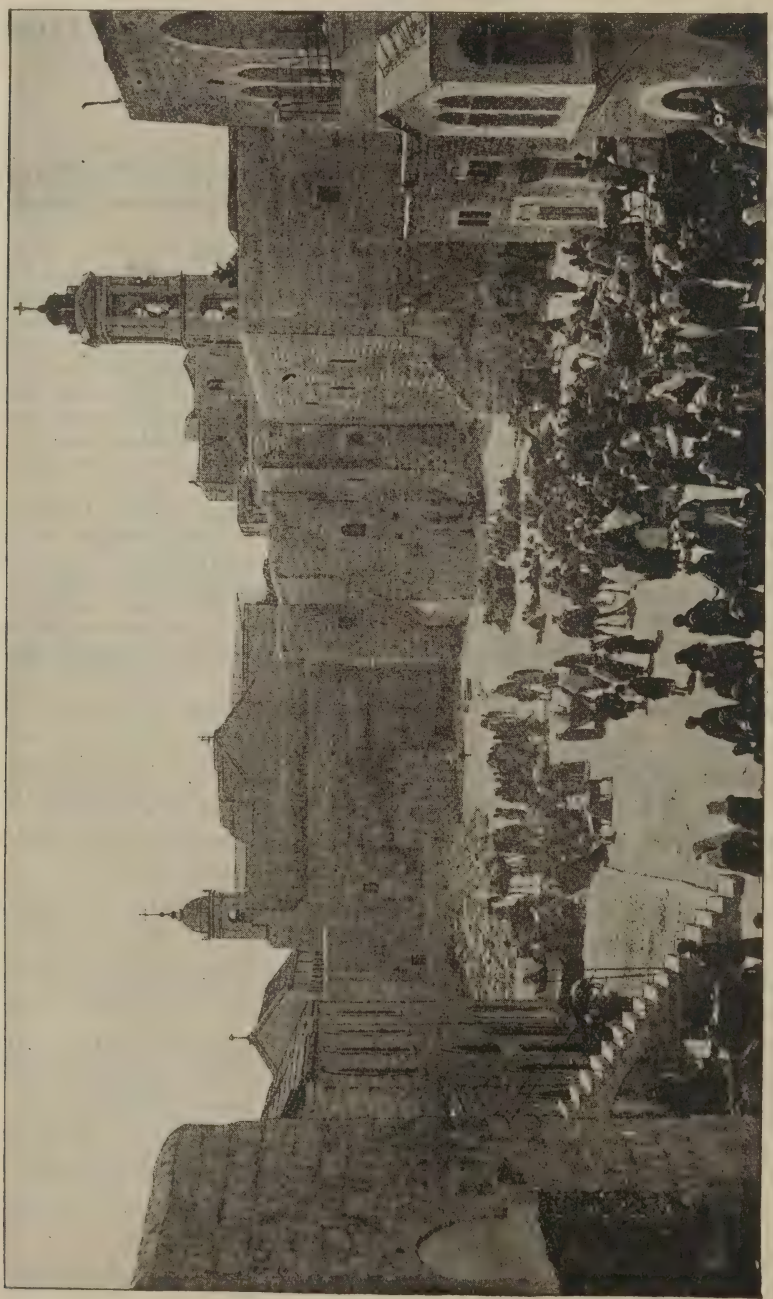
CONTAINED IN THE

PICTORIAL TEACHERS' BIBLES.

THE Photographs from which these Views were made were taken but recently, and they therefore give correct representations of the present appearances of places made memorable by the sacred and historic associations of Bible times.

Each View is followed by a clear yet concise description of the scene which it portrays. The series begins with Photo-Views of places that we read of in the book of Genesis, and proceeds to show in an orderly arrangement panoramas of various cities and localities in Bible lands as they come into prominence from time to time throughout the entire period covered by the Old and New Testament narrative.

EVERY PICTURE IS PRINTED ON COATED PAPER.



MARKET-PLACE IN BETHLEHEM.— Though anciently a small town, Bethlehem was none the less conspicuous in Hebrew history (Gen. xxxv. 19; Ruth i. 19; 1 Sam. xvii. 12). As the birthplace of Christ, and scene of the events connected therewith, it holds a place in Christian affection second only to that of the Holy City. It now has a population of about 5,000, composed mostly of Greek Christians, whose chief industry is the making of sacred souvenirs, which are sold to visitors. In its streets, architecture, and customs, one reads of a hoary past. In the fields around and in its busy market-place may still be heard the greeting and response of the days of Ruth (Ruth ii. 4).

THE HOLMAN
Comparative Self-Pronouncing Teachers' Bible

CONTAINING, IN COMBINED TEXT,

The Authorized and Revised Versions of the Old and New Testaments

THE LINEAR PARALLEL METHOD

presents in a single line and in large, clear type the texts of the Authorized and Revised Versions of the Holy Bible, where said texts are alike. Where they are unlike, either in language, spelling, italicization, capitalization, parentheses, punctuation, or otherwise, the difference is at once set forth by means of double lines of smaller type, making a readily and easily readable combined text.

AN INSTANTANEOUS COMPARISON

There is nothing mysterious or involved about the Linear Bible—all is plain sailing. There are no parallel columns or embarrassing foot-notes to mystify one's understanding. To read the Authorized Version, one has but to read the large type line along to any point of difference in the respective versions, and then follow the UPPER small type line through such difference. Likewise, to read the Revised Version, one has but to read the large type line along to any difference in the respective versions, and then follow the LOWER small type line through such difference. This rule holds as to every difference, even to that of a comma. Thus, not only the readings but the comparisons of the two versions become easy, immediate, satisfactory and perfect.

Christ at the JOHN VII. feast of tabernacles.

CHAPTER VII.

1 Jesus reproveth the ambition and boldness of his kinsmen; 10 goeth up from Galilee to the feast of tabernacles; 14 teacheth in the temple. 40 Divers opinions of him among the people. 45 The Pharisees are angry that their officers took him not, and chide with Nicodemus for taking his part.

AFTER these things Jesus walked in Galilee: for he would not walk in Jewry, because the Jews sought to kill him.

2 Now the Jews' feast of tabernacles was at hand.[a]

3 His brethren therefore said unto him, Depart hence, and go into Judea, that thy disciples also may see the works that thou doest.

4 For there is no man that doeth any thing in secret, and he himself seeketh to be known openly. If thou do these things, show thyself to the world.

5 For neither did his brethren believe in him.[b]

6 Then Jesus said unto them, My time is not yet come:[c] but your time is always ready.

7 The world cannot hate you;[d] but me it hateth, because A. D. 32. I testify of it, that the works thereof are evil.

8 Go ye up unto this feast: I go not up yet unto this feast; for my time is not yet full come.

9 When he had said these words unto them, he abode still in Galilee.

10 ¶ But when his brethren were gone up, then went he also up unto the feast, not openly, but as it were in secret.

11 Then the Jews sought him at the feast,[e] and said, Where is he?

12 And there was much murmuring among the people concerning him:[f] for some said, He is a good man: others said, Nay; but he deceiveth the people.

13 Howbeit, no man spake openly of him, for fear of the Jews.

14 ¶ Now, about the midst of the feast, Jesus went up into the temple, and taught.

15 And the Jews marvelled, saying, How knoweth this man letters,[*] having never learned?[g]

16 Jesus answered them, and

This was a season of special thanksgiving for the ingathering of the harvest.

ST. LUKE, 5.

13 And he put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will: be thou clean. And immediately the leprosy departed from him.

14 And he charged him to tell no man: but go, and shew thyself to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing, according as Mō'sēs commanded, for a testimony unto them.

15 But so much the more went there a fame abroad of him: and great multitudes came together to hear, and to be healed by him of their infirmities.

16 ¶ And he withdrew himself into the wilderness, and prayed.

17 And it came to pass on a certain day, as he was teaching, that there were Phär'ī-sees and doctors of the law sitting by, which were come out of every town of Gāl'ī-lee, and Jū-dæ'a, and Jē-ru'sā-lēm: and the power of the Lord was present to heal them.

18 ¶ And, behold, men brought in a bed a man which was taken with a palsy: and they sought means to bring him in, and to lay him before him.

19 And when they could not find by what way they might bring him in because of the multitude, they went upon the house top, and let him down through the tiling with his couch into the midst before Jē'sus.

20 And when he saw their faith, he said unto him, Man, thy sins are forgiven thee.

21 And the scribes and the Phär'ī-sees began to reason, saying, Who is this which speaketh blasphemies? Who can forgive sins, but God alone?

22 But when Jē'sus perceived their thoughts, he answering said unto them, What reason ye in your hearts?

23 Whether is easier, to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Rise up and walk?

24 But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power upon earth to forgive sins, (he said unto the sick of the palsy,) I say unto thee, Arise, and take up thy couch, and go into thine house.

25 And immediately he rose up before them, and took up that whereon he lay, and departed to his own house, glorifying God.

26 And they were all amazed, and they glorified God, and were filled with fear, saying, We have seen strange things to day.

27 ¶ And after these things he went forth, and saw a publican, named Lē'vī, sitting at the receipt of custom: and he said unto him, Follow me.

28 And he left all, rose up, and followed him.

29 And Lē'vī made him a great feast in his own house: and there was a great company of publicans and of others that sat down with them.

30 But their scribes and Phär'ī-sees murmured against his disciples, saying, Why do ye eat and drink with publicans and sinners?

31 And Jē'sus answering

Phăr´ĭ-seeş were offended, after they heard this saying?

13 But he answered and said, [m] Every plant, which my heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up.

14 Let them alone: [n] they be blind leaders of the blind. And if the blind lead the blind, both shall fall into the ditch.

15 [o] Then answered Pē´tĕr and said unto him, Declare unto us this parable.

16 And Jē´şus said, [p] Are ye also yet without understanding?

17 Do not ye yet understand, that [q] whatsoever entereth in at the mouth goeth into the belly, and is cast out into the draught?

18 But [r] those things which proceed out of the mouth come forth from the heart; and they defile the man.

19 [s] For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies:

20 These are the things which defile a man: but to eat with unwashen hands defileth not a man.

21 ¶ [t] Then Jē´şus went thence, and departed into the coasts of Tȳre and Sī´dŏn.

22 And, behold, a woman of Cā´năan came out of the same coasts, and cried unto him, saying, Have mercy on me, O Lord, thou son of Dā´vid; my daughter is grievously vexed with a devil.

23 But he answered her not a word. And his disciples came and besought him, saying, Send her away; for she crieth after us.

24 But he answered and said, [u] I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Ĭş´rą-el.

25 Then came she and worshipped him, saying, Lord, help me.

26 But he answered and said, It is not meet to take the children's bread, and to cast it to [x] dogs.

27 And she said, Truth, Lord: yet the dogs eat of the crumbs which fall from their masters' table.

28 Then Jē´şus answered and said unto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it unto thee even as thou wilt. And her daughter was made whole from that very hour.

30 [a] And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jē´şus' feet; and he healed them:

31 Insomuch that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see: and they glorified the God of Ĭş´rą-el.

32 ¶ [b] Then Jē´şus called his disciples unto him, and said, I have compassion on the multitude, because they continue with me now three days, and have nothing to eat: and I will not send them away fasting, lest they faint in the way.

BOOK OF JUDGES.

CHAPTER 1.

1 Conquests by Judah. 8 Jerusalem taken. 21 The acts of Benjamin. 29 Nations remaining unconquered.

B. C. 1425.

NOW after the death of Jŏsh'u-a it came to pass, that the children of Ĭs'ra-el [a]asked the LORD, saying, Who shall go up for us against the Cā'năan-ītes first, to fight against them?

2 And the LORD said, [b]Jū'dah shall go up: behold, I have delivered the land into his hand.

3 And Jū'dah said unto Sĭm'e-on his brother, Come up with me into my lot, that we may fight against the Cā'năan-ītes; and I likewise will go with thee into thy lot. So Sĭm'e-on went with him.

4 And Jū'dah went up; and [d]the LORD delivered the Cā'năan-ītes and the Pĕr'ĭz-zītes into their hand: and they slew of them in Bē'zek ten thousand men.

5 And they found Ă-dŏn'ĭ-bē'zek in Bē'zek: and they fought against him, and they slew the Cā'năan-ītes and the Pĕr'ĭz-zītes.

6 But Ă-dŏn'ĭ-bē'zek fled; and they pursued after him, and caught him, and cut off his thumbs and his great toes.

7 And Ă-dŏn'ĭ-bē'zek said, Threescore and ten kings, having [1]their thumbs and their great toes cut off, [2]gathered their meat under my table: [e]as I have done, so God hath requited me. And they brought him to Jĕ-ru'să-lĕm, and there he died.

[e] Lev. 24. 19. Ps. 109. 16.

8 Now the children of Jū'dah had fought against Jĕ-ru'să-lĕm, and taken it, and smitten it with the edge of the sword, and set the city on fire.

9 And afterward the children of Jū'dah went down to fight against the Cā'năan-ītes, dwelling in the mountain, and in the south, and in the valley.

10 And Jū'dah went against the Cā'năan-ītes that dwelt in Hē'bron: (now the name of Hē'bron before was Kĭr'jath-ăr'bā:) and they slew Shē'shāi, and Ăh'ĭ-măn, and Tăl'mai.

11 And from thence he went against the inhabitants of Dē'bir: and the name of Dē'bir before was Kĭr'jath-sē'phĕr.

12 And Cā'leb said, He that smiteth Kĭr'jath-sē'phĕr, and taketh it, to him will I give Ăch'sah my daughter to wife.

13 And Oth'nĭ-ĕl the son of Kĕn'az, the younger brother of Cā'leb, took it: and he gave him Ăch'sah his daughter to wife.

14 And it came to pass, when she came unto him, that she moved him to ask of her father a field: and she lighted from off her ass; and Cā'leb said unto her, What wouldest thou?

15 Who answered him, Give me a blessing: for thou hast given me a south land; give me also springs of water. And Cā'leb gave her the upper springs and the nether springs.

16 And the children of the Kē'nīte, Mō'sĕs' father in law, went up out of the city of palm trees with the children of Jū'dah into the wilderness of Jū'dah, which lieth in the south of [o]Ā'răd; [p]and they went and dwelt among the people.

17 And Jū'dah went with Sĭm'e-on his brother, and they slew the Cā'năan-ītes that inhabited Zē'phath, and utterly destroyed it. And the name of the city was called [q]Hôr'mah.

18 Also Jū'dah took [r]Gā'zà with the coast thereof, and Ăs'ke-lŏn with the coast thereof, and Ĕk'rŏn with the coast thereof.

19 And [s]the LORD was with Jū'dah; and [5]he drove out the inhabitants of the mountain; but could not drive out the inhabitants of the valley, because they had [t]chariots of iron.

20 [u]And they gave Hē'bron unto Cā'leb, as Mō'sĕs said: and he expelled thence the three sons of Ā'năk.

21 [v]And the children of Bĕn'ja-min did not drive out the Jĕb'u-sītes that inhabited Jĕ-ru'să-lĕm; but the Jĕb'u-sītes dwell with the children of Bĕn'ja-min in Jĕ-ru'să-lĕm unto this day.

22 ¶ And the house of Jō'sĕph, they also went up against Bĕth'-el: and the LORD was with them.

23 And the house of Jō'sĕph [w]sent to descry Bĕth'-el. (Now the name of the city before was [x]Lŭz.)

24 And the spies saw a man come forth out of the city, and they said unto him, Shew us, we pray

[o] Ā'răd; [p] and they went and dwelt among the people.

[q] Hôr'mah.

[r] Gā'zà with the coast thereof, and Ăs'ke-lŏn with the coast thereof, and Ĕk'rŏn with the coast thereof.

[s] the LORD was with Jū'dah; and [5] he drove out the inhabitants of the mountain; but could not drive out the inhabitants of the valley, because they had [t] chariots of iron.

[u] And they gave Hē'bron unto Cā'leb, as Mō'sĕs said: and he expelled thence the three sons of Ā'năk.

[v] And the children of Bĕn'ja-min did not drive out the Jĕb'u-sītes that inhabited Jĕ-ru'să-lĕm; but the Jĕb'u-sītes dwell with the children of Bĕn'ja-min in Jĕ-ru'să-lĕm unto this day.

[w] sent to descry Bĕth'-el. (Now the name of the city before was [x] Lŭz.)

—A Beautiful and Unique—

Life of Christ for Little Children.

ILLUSTRATIONS FROM THE MASTERS AND ILLUMINATED AFTER PARCHMENTS OF THE 15TH CENTURY.

BY

MARY MEIN CARTER.

The story is told in a series of easily memorized verses of which there is one for each letter of the Alphabet. The center of a left hand page is devoted to each letter and a verse, and the upper and lower parts of these pages are embellished with highly artistic and beautiful colored designs which the author has transcribed from Prayer Books of the 15th Century.

The series of peerless half-tone pictures which occupy right hand pages—one opposite each letter and verse—constitute a Pictorial Life of Christ from the Annunciation to the Ascension. These illustrations and the verses by their united influence will serve to keep in the mind the great events in the Life of Christ.

The pictures have been selected from the best works of the Old and Modern Masters and are of world wide fame.

In the concluding pages there are brief biographies of some of the great leaders in Sacred Art which will be of interest to many who do not have ready access to Biographical Dictionaries or Cyclopedias.

Bound in One Large Quarto Volume, Cloth, Gold Front Cover Stamp $1.25

—A New and Revised Edition of—

Peloubet's Suggestive Illustrations.

On the Gospel According to John.
One Volume, Cloth, 12mo., 548 Pages, $1.25

On the Acts of the Apostles.
One Volume, 12mo., 483 Pages, $1.25

These volumes are called "Suggestive Illustrations," because their object is quite as much to suggest other "Illustrations" as to furnish material ready for use.

The Text which is printed at the top of the various pages indicates at a glance the subjects to be elucidated. Every chapter and well-nigh every verse is illuminated with fresh, sparkling "illustrations." Now it is a bit of scientific lore, now a scrap of healthful verse, now a reference to some book or story or poem, now an anecdote, now a little parable—varied in the extreme, but always such as to kindle new ideas and fill the Scriptures with new meaning to the student.

"These books contain the gathered riches of Dr. F. N. Peloubet's quarter century and more of Bible Exposition."—The Advance, Chicago.

Invaluable to Pastors, Leaders of Prayer Meetings, Christian Endeavor and other church societies, Sunday School Teachers and parents in conducting Family Devotions.

Trade Announcement!

IT is with considerable gratification that we place before you our complete and comprehensive Trade and Order List of Publications for Summer, Fall and Holiday Trade for 1906. Particular attention is called to its contents. The List represents the strongest line of low-priced goods ever placed on the market by us or by our competitors.

Our catalogue contains Popular and Standard Literature in 16mo., 12mo., octavo and quarto sizes and comprises works on Poetry, Fiction, Romance, Travel, Adventure, Humor, Science, History, Religion, Biography, Drama, etc , etc.; besides Dictionaries and Manuals, Bibles, Recitation and Hand Books, Two and Five Volume Sets, Presentation Books in Leather and Cloth Bindings and Juvenile and Nursery Literature in immense variety.

Many radical changes have been made ; originality and uniqueness has been carefully studied; designs have been drawn by the best artists obtainable; paper, printing and binding carefully executed; prices–the lowest on record; all combining to make Hurst & Co.'s Order List pre-eminently the best. Especial attention is directed to the works of Archibald Clavering Gunter, formerly published by the Home Publishing Co. of New York, and now our exclusive property; also the valuable additions from the list of the Federal Book Co. of New York, whose retirement from business enables us to present the cream of their publications.

We ask the trade to secure our samples and prices and make careful comparisons before placing any orders. You will find our publications profitable to handle because they have given universal satisfaction everywhere. ::: Our terms to parties unknown to us are, cash with order, or satisfactory references.

Electros of any book illustration in this catalogue can be had without charge. They make excellent "pullers" for advertising purposes. ::: Prices to the trade upon application. ::: Your orders solicited.

A General Index will be found on the Last Page of this Catalogue.
